French Premier Hopeful For Peace After Parley

Mendes-France Discusses War With Red Chief

BERNE, Switzerland (UP) — French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who promised his country a quick peace in Indo-China, said today he believed chances for ending the war in Indo-China were improved by his "frank and complete" discussion of the problem with Red China's premier and foreign minister, Chou En-Lai.

The bustling French premier and the stolid Red leader met in the French embassy here for what Mendes-France told newsmen was "not a discussion but an absolutely free conversation about Indo-China.

"This frank and complete conversation permits me to hope that the Geneva conference (on Indo-China) can make progress," the French premier said.

He said he agreed with Chou that nothing would be added to that brief statement "in the interests of our objective which is the re-establishment of peace in southeast Asia."

Mendes-France did say, however, that nothing except Indo-China was discussed between them.

"The Indo-Chinese problem is for us (France) most important and the talks centred around it.

"I want to conclude on a note of optimism," said the French premier. "I hope that the conversations which just took place will help the re-establishment of peace."

The meeting at the French embassy began just a half-hour after Chou arrived in the Swiss capital from Geneva, where he has been attending the Indo-China peace conference.

Mendes-France arrived early today from Paris. He spent the morning conferring with leading members of the French delegation to the Geneva conference.

SET OWN DEADLINE

Mendes-France took office with a promise to resign if he does not bring peace to Indo-China by July 20.

ANTHONY EDEN

Eden Sees Risk of War In Indo-China

From AP and UP Dispatches

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today the situation in Southeast Asia carries "risks of a wider conflagration."

Eden, who led the British delegation at Geneva conference, was greeted with cheers as he opened a one-day foreign policy debate on the eve of his departure with Prime Minister Churchill for week-end talks with President Eisenhower.

Eden admitted that "no real progress" had been made at Geneva toward settlement of the Korean situation.

Referring to Indo-China, he said: "Seldom have I known a situation in which the risks of wider conflagration should be more apparent to all."

Prime Minister Churchill and Eden faced last-minute Labor party demands to go slow on any Southeast Asia defense pact before flying to Washington.

Churchill and Eden were scheduled to leave at 6.45 p.m. (12.45 p.m. PDT) and arrive in Washington at 6 a.m. PDT on Thursday for their meeting with President Eisenhower.

French Planes Destroy Red Supply Bases

HANOI, Indo-China (UP) —Fifty French B-26 bombers destroyed five Communist Indo-Chinese bases 50 miles east of Hanoi today with 62 tons of bombs.

The French high command announced that an hour before the B-26's pulverized the bases near the Hanoi-Haiphong supply lifeline fighter planes dropped leaflets warning civilians of the forthcoming attack.

This method of warning the populace was developed by the French air force as the best way of hitting Red build-up bases without killing civilians.

The bombers dropped 500 and 1,000-pound delayed action bombs. Photo-reconnaissance planes produced aerial photographs showing bombs had hit their targets squarely.

The raids took place as French Union troops fought an all-out battle with rebels 30 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The French high command disclosed a "veritable battle" has been raging the past four days around the defense ring of concrete forts and blockhouses built at Sontay by the late Marshal Jean de Lattre de Tassigny to keep the rebels from driving into the heart of the Red River Delta.

But the high command did not disclose details of the progress of the battle or the number of casualties, which was expected to be heavy.

Drinks Vote Set July 12 For Oak Bay

The provincial cabinet today set July 12 as the date for a liquor plebiscite in Oak Bay municipality. Registration of voters not on the provincial voters' list will close July 2.

Oak Bay residents will vote on the four different types of liquor outlets. The plebiscite is the result of a request made by the municipal council.

Saanich voters will ballot on the new liquor outlets on June 29, as will Central Saanich electors.

CASE NEARING END

Wife May Have Taken Own Life Says Dr. Rush

VANCOUVER (CP)—A self-administered overdose of sleeping pills was offered by Dr. Raymond D. Rush today as an explanation for his wife's death here Nov. 30.

Rush, charged with manslaughter, is on trial at the assice court here. The case may go to the jury later today.

"My explanation is that possibly she took an overdose of sleeping pills," Dr. Rush told the jury.

"She was often up and around the house and it is quite possible she took an overdose, but that is only speculation," he said.

"Why didn't you have a nurse for your wife during that last week of her life?" asked Prosecutor H. R. Bray.

"She refused," said Dr. Rush. "She was your patient, your wife. Why didn't you take charge?"

"A husband cannot always take charge of his wife."

Wreckage of Tug Chelan Found in Alaska Waters

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) —A 60-year-old diver has radioed a report of his discovery of the sunken Canadian tug Chelan, which went down with a crew of 14 men last April 15.

Diver Kay Antonsen reported discovery of the 148-foot craft by dragging. He said he confirmed its identity Tuesday by diving into the icy 180-foot deep waters of Sumner Strait.

The tug sank while towing a barge of zinc ore southward. The barge wreckage, broken into nine pieces, is on the shore more than a mile away.

Antonsen's agent here, Dean Hamlin, notified Frank Waterhouse Co. in Vancouver, which is expected to fly agents here. It is believed here it might possibly buy the salvage rights from Antonsen.

Expecting to make an attempt to recover any bodies remaining in the hulk, Antonsen has arranged tentatively to use rigging scows from a cannery to lift the tugboat enough to drag it to shallower water.

Seaway Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canada, in line with a suggestion by the United States, has proposed that representatives of the two governments meet on Monday to discuss construction of the St. Lawrence seaway.

60 Today

The man who was once called "Britain's greatest traveling salesman," reached 60 today. The Duke of Windsor, who as Edward VIII abdicated the throne of England 18 years ago, spent the day quietly sunning himself in the garden of his Paris home which he shares with his American-born duchess.

Worst River Crest in History Rolls Down on Des Moines

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—As hundreds of families fled their homes, volunteer workers labored furiously today to repel the biggest flood threat the Des Moines River ever has thrown at this Iowa city of 178,000 persons.

As the river pushed rapidly toward a massive crest of 29 to 30 feet, the question was, would the dikes, rebuilt and strengthened after the disastrous 1947 flood which claimed two lives and caused millions of dollars in property damage, hold. If they do not, city officials warned, a fifth of the city's area might be flooded and more than 1,000 families left homeless.

"This city is faced with the worst flood situation in its entire history," Mayor Joseph van Dreser said in proclaiming a flood emergency.

The river, swollen by torrential rains, flows directly through the centre of the city. It runs through a secondary residential district and past the business, commercial and railroad areas. The main business district is out of reach of the flooding.

DEATH BRUSHES CHILDREN

PORT ALBERNI (BUP)—A crowd of children escaped death or serious injury here when they mounted an idle road roller, started the motor and rode the machine to the edge of a steep gully.

The youngsters jumped clear and the roller miraculously stalled on the edge.

B.C. Civil Servants Urging Strike Vote

Our Slips Are Showing

Downtown city streets are beginning to show clearly effect of the outside civic workers' strike. Above photo shows Yates at Government. "Keep City Clean" containers are filled. Litter thrown on streets and sidewalks has not been collected for a week. Some householders reportedly are bringing some of their home garbage to town in paper bags, and leaving it in the refuse containers. (See civic strike story, Page 17.) (Times photo.)

New Grievance Policy Brings Stoppage Threat

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Hundreds of provincial government civil servants have demanded their executives call an immediate strike vote in the face of government refusal to hear their grievances.

This was revealed today by Carl Hauck, president of the B.C. Government Civil Service Association (TLC) as the group's 17-man executive laid plans for a vital July 2 meeting.

The meeting will discuss Premier Bennett's statement last week that the government will no longer meet directly with the association to hear wage demand and job grievances.

Mr. Hauck said many of the association's labor groups are openly discussing strike action, and that several resolutions, bearing up to 480 names, have been received by the excutive asking for a walk-out ballot.

"It is common knowledge that some branches of our association have submitted resolutions to the executive asking for an immediate strike," said Mr. Hauck.

'Played Politics' Says Premier

Premier Bennett said meetings between the association and the cabinet have been discontinued "because certain people in the association played politics."

In future, all grievances, dealing with wages and conditions, will be handled within the affected department by the minister and the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Hauck defied the premier to "tell us who the people are who have been playing politics. Name them," he said.

"I want to know who these people are. All I have heard so far is rumor and innuendo. The by-laws of our association say active participation in politics by any member shall be cause for termination of membership of such member."

Premier Bennett told the Times that the annual report of the Civil Service Commission, a department set up to administer the Civil Service Act, showed "no job grievances in 1953."

Said Mr. Hauck: "The premier is definitely misinformed when he says there are no grievances."

The association president said three basic groups within the association—tradesmen, Liquor Control Board employees and psychiatric nurses—still do not have a five-day week.

A highly-placed source told the Times today the psychiatric nurses employed at the provincial mental hospital at Essondale are "ready to walk out at any time."

Civil servants, other than white-collar workers, still work a six-day, 44-hour week.

Mr. Hauck made the position of his group clear. "We are not interested in the government as a government," he said. "But rather as an employer of labor."

"Some of the things we are asking for, including arbitration, we have been fighting for for 10 years," he said. "Our quarrel is not with any particular type of government, but with our employer, which is the government."

He added: "We have several courses of action open, and all will be discussed thoroughly at the director's meeting."

"Legally, we could strike," he said, "or we could submit our problems to public opinion."

Charge Election Promises Not Kept

The association president said that during the 1952 general election campaign association branches "asked every candidate for his stand on granting arbitration rights to civil servants."

"A majority of Social Credit candidates, including six men who are now cabinet ministers, said they were in favor of arbitration for civil servants," he said.

"When they were elected, we asked them to implement their promises, and we are still waiting," said Mr. Hauck. "The premier was not one of the six," he said.

Premier Bennett formed a three-man cabinet sub-committee to hear wage demands and job grievances in the spring of 1953. It met the association committee once, in January of that year, and has not sat since.

Premier Bennett said: "The cabinet sub-committee quit meeting the association because certain people in the association played politics. It destroyed the work the committee was doing," he said.

Since that time, repeated requests for a meeting have been ignored by the cabinet.

"This statement from the press is the first we have heard from the government," said Mr. Hauck. "We will have to act on it."

"If I have my way, we will face up to this thing right now," he added.

The association head said the executive may decide to wait until the group's fall convention at Nanaimo and let "some disgruntled branch" submit a resolution calling for a strike.

Latest efforts for a meeting with the cabinet made by the association include a "smoothing out" meeting between Premier Bennett and Trades and Labor Congress of Canada vice-president R. K. Gervin, held two weeks ago.

"There has got to be some appeal to our elected representative," said Mr. Hauck. He said the association considered Section 72 of the Civil Service Act binding on the government.

The section reads: "A committee elected (by a majority of members in good standing of a civil servants' association) shall be recognized by the lieutenant-governor in council as the representatives of the employees for the purpose of discussing any matters affecting their general welfare and conditions of employment."

Rebel Forces Attack Guatemala Rail Centre

'Furious Air and Land Attack' Claimed Going On 65 Miles East of Capital City

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP)—Anti-Communist rebel forces said today they are making a "furious air and land attack" on the important railway centre of Chiquimula, 65 miles due east of the Guatemalan capital.

An announcement from the headquarters of Rebel Chieftain Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, claimed the important rail centres of Bananera, Morales and Gualan, which were attacked Tuesday, now are securely in rebel hands.

This would give the forces seeking to overthrow the leftist regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman control of a 70-mile stretch of the nation's only railway.

They claimed Tuesday to have cut the railway in several places, severing communications between the capital and Puerto Barrios, the nation's most important seaport, located on the Caribbean coast.

Chiquimula, a town of 25,000 inhabitants 30 miles from the Honduras frontier, controls a spur line into the neighboring republic of San Salvador.

The rebel announcement said fighting for control of Chiquimula is continuing.

SMALLER TOWNS

Col. Castillo claimed to have moved his headquarters deeper inside the country from Esquipulas, a mountain town where headquarters were established Tuesday. The rebels claimed their invasion of the country is moving forward steadily, supported by "hundreds of peasants."

A Guatemalan government communique discounted the rebel claims. It said the rebel forces had been defeated at Gualan and Chiquimula. The rebels were claimed by the government to be "in headlong retreat toward the border.

Enemy groups which were cut off during combat have been captured without offering resistance," the government said.

Meanwhile two Guatemalan army planes were reported today to have bombed two towns in Honduras, springboard for the anti-Communist invasion of Red-infested Guatemala.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the Honduran foreign office was attempting to determine whether this country had been bombed in an act of revenge.

'CIVIL WAR' SAYS LODGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Guatemala, defying strong opposition from the United States, insisted today on a new meeting of the United Nations Security Council to consider the fighting in the Central American country.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. warned the Guatemalans in a statement issued Tuesday night that they should not "appear to be a catspaw in the Soviet conspiracy to meddle in the Western Hemisphere."

"The fact that it has become increasingly plain that the situation in Guatemala is clearly a civil and not an international—war, makes it more appropriate that the Security Council should not intervene further," he said.

To request new meetings, he said, "would raise grave doubts as to the good faith of those who make such requests."

Safecrackers Active

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —The second and third safecrackings in the Royal City within two days netted yeggs $2,700 in cash overnight, as well as several cheques of undetermined value.

The raids were staged on credit union offices in the IWA building.

Guatemala 'Climax' Soon Says Pearson

OTTAWA (BUP) — External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said today the military situation in Guatemala may reach its climax in "the very near future."

The Canadian government trade commissioner's office in Guatemala City said there was no danger to Canadian life or property, Pearson told the Commons. In addition to the families of the trade commission office, there were about 24 Canadians there, Pearson said.

Advices so far received by the government here indicated that the political situation was "not clear," but that the military situation appeared "to be coming to a climax." A cable received late Tuesday, Pearson said, indicated the climax would be reached "very soon."

Opposition Leader George Drew said that the day after the Guatemala disturbances began he had receeived a letter from the Communist Party in Canada urging that Canada "assert the voice of democracy." He said this showed the speed with which "agents of this world treachery" operated.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell said he received the same letter and replied that he would have been more anxious to support it if he had received the same kind of appeal from the Communist Party when the government of Czechoslovakia was overrun.

Tossed From Boat, Blind Man Swims In Circle, Drowns

MADISONVILLE, Ky (AP)—A blind musician, unable to find land, drowned in a lake Tuesday night after swimming in circles until he was exhausted.

"Where's the bank? Where's the bank?" James T. Forbes, 41, kept shouting after he and a fishing companion were dumped into the lake when their skiff capsized.

Eurie B. Duvall, 27, Forbes' brother-in-law, went under immediately.

Daniel Fisher, 16, heard Forbes cries and swam toward him, only to see him disappear when he was almost in reach.

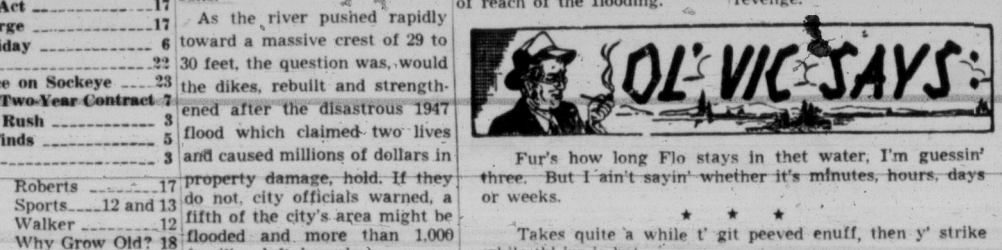

Record Vote Expected in Vancouver

VANCOUVER—Bright sunshine encouraged hopes for a record turnout of voters today with ballots being cast on four money by-laws and a bitterly-disputed shopping referendum aimed at replacing all-day Wednesday store closing with six-day-a-week shopping.

A total of 171,882 persons were eligible to vote at 91 polls, which opened at 8 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m.

The "dead Wednesday" by-law has been the focal point of controversy and bitter wrangling since it was passed in 1947. The by-law, unique in Canada, requires outlets to shut down for the full day compared to the half-day common in many sections of Canada.

Ratepayers are also asked to approve the proposed sale of the city-owned Sea Island International Airport to the transport department for $1,000,000, expenditure of $2,000,000 for a sewage extension and improvement program, and the sale of Larwill Park to the BCE for a bus depot.

EXPLANATION 'NOVEL' BUT HE STILL PAYS TAX

OTTAWA (BUP)—Marine engineer R. S. Williams of Horseshoe Bay, B.C., will have to pay income tax on $228 in board and lodging he received on the Vancouver-Nanaimo ship Ss Princess of Naniamo, the Income Tax Appeal Board ruled.

The board said today that the board and lodging had been received in return for services rendered. It described as "novel, but untenable" Williams' contention that the owner was obliged to furnish them to the crew by statute and they should not be regarded as part of earned income.

Best Observation Points

Victorians won't see the total eclipse June 30, but much of the world will. Above map shows best observation points as moon passes between earth and sun. Little Saanich Mountain observatory scientists are now in eastern Canada to take readings of phenomena. Next total eclipse will be Oct. 26, 2144 . . . if you want to wait around.

SOLAR BLACKOUT WON'T BE SEEN HERE

20-Second Job for 4 From City During June 30 Eclipse of Sun

A team of four scientists from the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain will be at Hansen, Ont., June 30 to observe the most dramatic event the sky can offer—a total eclipse of the sun.

The observatory expedition consists of Dr. K. O. Wright, T. E. Argyle, John Galt and Dr. Jean McDonald. The expedition has already been on location for nearly a month, setting up a spectograph on concrete piles with which to photograph the spectrum of the sun.

The spectograph, built here at the observatory, will have only a total of some 20 seconds to record. The flash spectrum takes place 10 seconds before the eclipse and 10 seconds after.

Victorians will be out of luck as far as the sun "blackout" is concerned. The eclipse starts at 3.17 a.m. and the sun will be blotted from sight for about a minute and a half. As well, even if the eclipse did occur during daylight hours here, Victoria is out of the path of totality. Farthest west point from which the eclipse will be seen completely is Minneapolis, Minn.

Best place in the world to observe the eclipse will be in Sweden or Norway where the moon blacks out the sun's face around noon.

Eighteen experts from observatories in Victoria, Toronto, Ottawa, Vancouver and many from United States universities are in Ontario now, setting up sensitive apparatus to probe the mysteries of solar energy.

The gigantic shadow of the moon will cover 8,000 miles in two hours and 45 minutes, an average speed of 3,000 miles per hour. The eclipse wil first touch in Nebraska and leaves the earth at sunset near Jodhpur, India.

Rails-Union Wage Talks Bogged Down

Hall Reports Back to Gregg

MONTREAL (BUP) — Contract negotiations between representatives of 135,000 non-operating railway employees and officials of Canada's major railroads were broken off Tuesday with no plans for further talks.

The negotiations had been resumed at the request of Federal Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg after earlier talks broke down. They followed distribution of strike ballots asking the non-operating employees whether they favored a walkout to back demands for fringe benefits worth 14 cents an hour.

Frank Hall, chairman of a negotiating commitee for 14 unions and brotherhoods battling with the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, said after the meeting: "We are reporting back to the labor minister—that's all I can say."

Union and railroad officials said there were no plans for further meetings. It was expected that unless there is any further word from Ottawa, they will await the result of the strike vote expected to be announced Aug. 15.

Alger Hiss Pension Expected To Be Denied by Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sponsors predicted today the House will ignore administration protests and approve legislation to deny Alger Hiss a pension.

Rep. Kit Clardy (R, Mich.) said he doubts if any House member "would have the hardihood to vote against a bill denying these (pension) benefits to Hiss, the traitor."

Clardy said he was "shocked . . . aghast . . . enraged . . . boiling mad" over opposition raised to the bills by the civil service commission.

Chairman Philip Young said in a statement presented on the commission's behalf that the proposals are contrary to the 30-year-old "concept of the retirement law."

He said an employee who meets all requirements under the Retirement Act is "entitled to an annuity regardless of his reason for separation."

Retirement benefits are guaranteed in his contract with the government and "discharge for cause regardless of the reason, the commission of a crime, the abandonment of United States citizenship, etc., does not defeat the right already earned," he said.

The bureau of the budget also opposed the bills. It raised "grave doubt" that an employee could be "divested of rights" accrued under the Civil Service Act, and questioned ths wisdom of penalizing "a guiltless wife, dependent child or other dependent."

Trade Ban on Reds Impossible Ike Says

Extreme Measures Would 'Ruin Us' President Tells Editorial Group

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday night it would "ruin us" to ban all trade with the Communists, to scuttle foreign aid, or to forget entirely about the defense of southeast Asia.

He conceded many people have proposed these things and there is some merit in them. But he said if they are "pursued to an extreme," a nation like Japan would fall to the Reds and the Pacific would become a "Communist lake."

Mr. Eisenhower made the statements in an informal talk before the National Editorial Association which represents 5,200 American publications, mostly small-town weekly newspapers. He described his subject as "very close to my heart."

He said it is true the United States "cannot be an atlas" and carry the whole free world on its own shoulders and that "give-away programs are not going to keep the world free."

It is also true, the president said, that the Allies should not supply ammunition, guns, planes or other "direct" war aid to the Communists.

He said it is true the United States cannot be put in the position of "defending the whole world for freedom when it really doesn't want freedom." And it is true, he continued, that America should not "open the gates" to so much foreign competition that it is reduced to a "workless, long food-line basis of existence."

But he warned that any one of these ideas "pursued to an extreme would ruin us." And he said not one of them, "pursued alone," could help a country like Japan.

It is "absolutely mandatory" to America's security, he declared, to prevent Japan from falling under Moscow's influence because Japan could provide the Communists with great armies and navies that would close the Pacific to the free world.

He said, however, that Japan "cannot remain in the free world unless something is done to allow her to make a living" where her nearest big neighbor is Red China and where her best present market, southeast Asia, now is in danger.

"If we will not give her any money, if we will not trade with her, if we will not allow her to trade with Reds, if we will not try to defend in any way the southeast Asian area where she has a partial trade opportunity, what is going to happen to Japan?" he said. "It is going to the Communists."

FACTS ABOUT DOMINION ROYAL NYLON LIFEWALL TUBES

1 LIFEWALL tubes represent the most radical single development in all tire history. They are, even alone, almost as strong as conventional tires!

2 In special demonstrations, LIFEWALL tubes have been driven over the road — minus tires! This has proved their astonishing, life-protection strength.

3 Each LIFEWALL tube contains two full layers of Nylon cords . . . tremendously tough and strong . . . giving you double tire strength and positive blowout prevention on every wheel!

4 The scientific combination of Butyl rubber and woven nylon is an example of Nylon used to its best possible advantage in tube or tire construction. It's an exclusive Dominion Royal feature that allows the Nylon LIFEWALL Tube to float free, turn away impact without harm.

DOMINION ROYAL NYLON LIFEWALL TUBES GIVE YOU Positive Blowout Prevention!

Here's another of the many tests proving the tremendous strength of LIFEWALL tubes. The tire you see above is a Dominion Royal Master containing a LIFEWALL tube. The car slams the first concrete block . . . then plummets down on the second — even bending the steel wheel-rim! Afterwards, a close inspection showed absolutely no loss of air. Other tires in the test blew out or were thrown off their rims by the terrific shock.

U.S. Will Need Gas Some Day Says Howe

Must Come To Canada Eventually

OTTAWA (BUP) — The northwest United States will some day need Canadian gas even though the Federal Power Commission in Washington has banned its importation, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said in the Commons Tuesday.

The FPC's decision would hold up the development of the Peace River area of British Columbia and Alberta "for some time at least," he said.

But he said he thought that piping gas into the Washington-Oregon region from New Mexico was only an intermediate step.

NOT ENOUGH

Howe said he doubted that there was enough gas in the San Juan, New Mexico, basin to "really supply the domestic users and there is nothing available for industry."

"I presume there will be a demand for northern gas if it is then available," he said.

He told West Coast members who complained about the U.S. action that policy for the sale of western gas was made in the west and not in Ottawa, and it might have been done better in the capital.

LONG SHOT

Western officials were "taking a long shot" in trying to supply the market from the distant Peace River gas fields, Howe said.

"We have done everything we can to help market the gas," he said. But he added that he did not see how capital assistance could be given the defense production department, which he heads, to get Peace River gas to southern British Columbia.

The government believed the best market for Alberta gas was in Canada and the gas was being piped to Eastern Canada, he said, and "there, I think, is a project that the government can assist."

VANCOUVER MOTHER DIES FROM BEATING

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Catherine Terry, 36-year-old victim of a vicious hammer beating Monday, died in hospital here Tuesday.

A warrant charging Mrs. Terry's husband, Cecil, a steelworker, with murder has been issued by Vancouver police. RCMP and border officials have been alerted to watch for the missing man. Terry, 41, has not been seen since Monday.

A mother of five children, Mrs. Terry never regained consciousness from the time she was admitted with severe head injuries.

Wife Did Not Want Post-Mortem—Dr. Rush

Physician Admits Asking Two Doctors To Sign Certificate Before Wife Died

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Raymond D. Rush admitted in his manslaughter trial in Assize Court here Tuesday that he asked two physicians to sign his wife's death certificate before she died Nov. 30.

Reason for this, said Dr. Rush, was that he knew his wife did not want a post-mortem.

"I was trying to respect her wishes," he stated during cross-examination.

"All they (Dr. Lyle Telford and Dr. M. M. McPherson) wanted to do was get her into hospital so they could do a post-mortem and sign the certificate with a clear conscience. It wasn't a question of saving her life."

Mrs. Rush also has no use for other doctors and refused to be X-rayed or go to hospital, the accused said.

Dr. Rush said his wife stopped breathing completely on many occasions in the two years before her death and had periods of unconsciousness from pain and sleeping pills. She was "a spiritualist in belief," he said.

Employment Spurts Ahead During May

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian employment spurted ahead in May, the government reported today.

The government's periodical survey showed that employment — full and part-time — passed the 5,000,000 mark in the week ended May 22, though it was lower than a year earlier.

On an estimate of the bureau of statistics, there were 5,070,000 persons at work during the week of May 22, of whom 4,729,000 were employed full time and 351,000 for part of the week.

This compared with 4,880,000 in the week ended April 17 and with 5,108,000 in the corresponding May week of 1953.

UNEMPLOYMENT DOWN

The bureau, which samples 30,000 households, estimated that actual unemployment during the week under review amounted to 217,000, made of persons without jobs and looking for work.

This was down from 303,000 at April 17 but was almost double the bureau figure of 114,000 for the same week a year earlier.

Organized searchers found the body after 20-hour hunt. Death was attributed to over-exertion.

Mayhew Better After 4 Days In Hospital

Not Seriously Ill; Again at Embassy

Canadian Ambassador to Japan, Hon. Robert Mayhew, was released from United States Army Hospital in Tokyo Tuesday after a four-day rest following collapse while engaged in official duties, his son, Logan Mayhew, said here today following a long-distance phone call to the embassy there.

Mr. Mayhew, who spoke with his mother at the embassy, said the ambassador's condition was "nothing serious, and he is coming along very nicely."

Mr. Mayhew had intended to retire in September and return to his home here. T. C. Davis, former ambassador to West Germany, has been named his succeessor.

There was a lengthy wait before the Victoria-Tokyo call went through—10 p.m. Tuesday to 5 a.m. today—but once connection was made conversation was "very clear," Mr. Mayhew said.

Brig. Allard, Back From Korea, Sees No Chance of War Resuming

OTTAWA (CP)—Brig. Jean Victor Allard, 41, said today he believes the Korean truce can be maintained indefinitely.

"If it is broken," he added, "it will be broken politically and not militarily."

The big, deeply tanned brigadier returned home by air after more than a year as commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea. He was succeeded there by Brig. Frederick A. Clift, 45, of Melfort, Sask.

Brig. Allard said he doesn't know what his next appointment will be. It has been reported he may become commander of the 1st Division.

"My first appointment is to re-establish myself with my family," he told reporters. "In the 15 months I've been away, my children, one son, two daughters, have grown till I hardly recognized them when I got off the plane just now."

Asked if he saw any hope of Canadian forces being withdrawn from Korea in the near future, Brig. Allard said that was a political matter and he could not comment.

BRIG. J. V. ALLARD

The brigadier said there is no evident extra activity on the Communist side of the demarcation line.

"The Chinese are doing what any well-organized army would do. We're only 4,000 yards apart. We can see them and they can see us. The Chinese is a very good soldier. He is an enemy one has to respect.

"The peace depends on the politicians. If the Communists want to start the war again, they can. But I don't see any chance of the war starting again."

Canada's population, now just over the 15,000,000 mark, is 2½ times larger than in 1900.

The Facts of Life

A CUT OF TEN CENTS A bushel has failed so far to move Canada's huge accumulation of wheat. A further reduction seems probable. The Federal Government evidently is ready to meet the demands of the market because, as Mr. Howe tells Parliament, "Those are the facts of life. . . . Anyone who has tried to hold wheat off the market for a period in this country has headed for disaster." Yet, until a few days ago, that is precisely what the Government, through the Wheat Board, had tried to do. It has held wheat at a price which the market refuses to pay. Now it is desperately anxious to unload.

As a result of the present wheat surplus in exporting countries like Canada, the World Wheat Agreement—an attempt to regulate prices within fixed limits—appears to be in serious danger of collapse.

In the current crop year importers guaranteed to buy 421,000,000 bushels at a maximum price of $2.05 per bushel and a minimum of $1.55. Though the crop year will end in two months, 210,000,000 bushels have not been sold. Several importing countries have announced that they will not accept their quotas. Britain, the largest importer, did not sign the agreement. The agreement thus covers a relatively small fraction of the world's wheat trade. The attempt to control the price, regardless of the law of supply and demand is clearly failing.

When the Canadian Government admits "the facts of life" and indicates that it will sell as the market decides, importers will doubtless postpone their purchases until prices fall further.

The British Columbia businessman, selling lumber, fish, metals or fruit may think that he is not affected by the price of wheat. In fact, it affects every aspect of the Canadian economy—first, because it largely governs the purchasing power of the three prairie provinces and, second, because it is communicated to the price of other products.

In the case of wheat the world faces an inevitable deflation after a long period of inflation. In greater or less degree, the same conditions touch many other products. Some of our great manufacturing industries, for example, complain that they cannot sell their maximum production, but what they mean is that these products cannot always be sold at present prices. They would sell readily enough if the price could be reduced.

But in recent years we have built so much rigidity into our cost structure that any adjustment is extremely difficult and at the moment—in the case of the Canadian railways, for example—still higher costs, in the form of wages, are demanded.

The break in the world wheat market is a highly significant portent, telling us that this process of raising costs and holding up prices in defiance of the world market is encountering the law of diminishing returns. The real question, which probably will face all nations not long hence, is whether unavoidable readjustments of the cost-price structure can be made in an orderly, flexible fashion or whether it must be made suddenly and painfully.

Reaction to Force

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS in a number of ways follow the laws of physics, particularly in regard to the principle that each action causes an equal and opposite reaction. For while Russia has derived many victories from a policy of belligerency and imperialistic expansion, there have been compensating developments which tend to effect a balance.

The Korean grab, for instance, was the final act that spurred Western rearmament and defensive unification. The expansion of Soviet power through eastern Europe precipitated the revolt of Marshal Tito and the escape of communist Yugoslavia from Kremlin domination. Communist encroachments in Greece and Azerbaijan firmed American determination to contain communism within lines already set. And so it goes.

The latest counter-effect of Soviet toughness may be seen in the current formation of a new Balkan alliance—a treaty whereby Turkey, Greece and Yugoslavia will guarantee defense of each other's independence and safety in case of outside attack. The agreement is expected to be completed within the next few weeks, and, in view of the NATO membership of Greece and Turkey it will implement and extend the defensive provisions of the Atlantic group.

The Balkan agreement is not, however, without its complications. One arises from the dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia over control of Trieste. The Italians do not look with favor on the encouragement given Yugoslavia through the proposed alliance, and for this reason Britain and the United States have cautioned against a too hasty signing of the agreement. The hope is that the Trieste issue may be brought at least within sight of a settlement so as to forestall Italian opposition.

The directors of the Kremlin are obviously well aware of the cause and effect process. They have alternated displays of raw force with temporary, velvet-gloved policies designed to allay the fears of the West and convince them that communism seeks only to live in peace with the world.

These "comrade" interludes are often in part successful. There are always many people who hasten to forget the previous use of force, to disregard the known methods and objectives of world communism, and to give expression to their own wishful thinking.

Fortunately, in a sense, the communist wolf cannot long keep its sheep's clothing in place. Inevitably the velvet glove wears thin to expose the iron hand beneath, for communism is totalitarianism, and totalitarianism can live only by force.

A Milestone in Music

SIR ERNEST MacMILLAN TOOK a responsive instrument last night and gave it the artist's touch. Such is the appraisal by music lovers of the performance presented by the Victoria Symphony under the direction of one of the world's great living conductors.

The event, to be repeated this evening, is already a decorative chapter in Greater Victoria's musical history.

Apart from the entertainment value of the performance, the concert last night marked a milestone for the organization which Hans Gruber has brought forward to a high standard of excellence. A few years ago it could not have derived the inspiration from Sir Ernest that it so evidently drew from his direction. Nor could the distinguished leader have found in it, at an earlier time, the encouragement for the performance he gave.

This community has every reason to be proud of the presentation, and every reason to show its approval with a full house this evening.

Staying Alive on the Highway

EACH MONDAY MORNING newspapers across Canada receive, as a regular feature of telegraph news, a statement of highway deaths from the preceding weekend.

Here is the story of tragedy which sometimes strikes home in Victoria, sometimes seems remote when the fatalities occur in other parts of the nation. Because it is repeated so frequently, the warning implicit in the mortality statistics wears thin.

Some of those accidents seem unavoidable. Others could have been prevented. Safety organizations are continually trying to discover some method of counteracting that human carelessness, weakness or lapse in caution which is the cause of many unnecessary deaths on the highway.

As the summer season starts, with heavier vacation traffic on the road, they offer two or three pieces of advice.

U.S. Army studies of some 350 accidents, involving non-military vehicles, have revealed fatigue to be a factor in about 128 of them. The army suggests a campaign against driver fatigue by the observance of a few simple precautions. Motorists are urged to keep car windows open and to breathe deeply. They are advised to drink coffee or some other suitable beverage every two hours. They are cautioned to stop for exercise at the onset of drowsiness, and to rest if the driver is sleepy.

The American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators offers a few more tips. It urges people to start trips when they are rested, not after the day's work; to drive according to conditions — sometimes at speeds less than those posted on highway signs; and to stay 100 feet or more behind the car ahead.

The precautions are simple. Their observance could reduce the toll which regularly comes into newspaper offices in the report of weekly fatalities.

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I WAS watching some elementary school children putting on an elementary play about Dick Whittington and his cat. It wasn't very interesting. Most of the acting was too passable to be very funny. Mind you, most of the parents giggled and tittered anyhow, and otherwise insulted the actors . . . that's what grown-ups are for, to show kids that manners aren't everything. And to remind kids that whatever they do is ridiculous. Kids, in short (according to most grown-ups), are a cross between a pet budgerigar and a harmless drunk. You are entitled to hold this opinion in private. Indeed, the evidence for your case is considerable. But anyone who keeps reminding the kids of it is a bit of a drunk herself, and not entirely harmless.

Brock

WELL, while watching the adventures of Dick Whittington, I suddenly realized what the bells meant when they kept saying "Turn again, Whittington." They were talking about vaudeville turns. They knew that every mayor is a natural comedian. Yes, and it is pointless to say to a mayor that he (or she) should be on the stage, because mayors are already on the stage.

And talking of the stage, I think I am right in saying that after Dick Whittington got rich and powerful, he financed the wars of Henry IV and Henry V. What a pity Shakespeare (or Olivier) didn't bring Whittington onto the stage. And the cat, too. Similarly, it seems a great mistake not to bring Prince Hal and Falstaff into a pantomime about Whittington. The history of the theatre is one long series of wasted chances.

COPYRIGHT

A FRIEND of mine has a TV show which he calls "Tabloid" and which is mainly a potpourri of the day's news. I have not seen the show, but I hear it is excellent. It's a Toronto affair. The CBC hopes to have a Vancouver show very like it before many weeks have passed. What interests me most at the moment is the name. There is no copyright in titles. But the word "Tabloid" happens to be the property of its inventors, Messrs. Burroughs, Wellsome, the chemists, who coined it exactly 70 years ago. It is a registered trademark . . . like vaseline and dynamite and many another "common" word that is anything but common property.

COPYRIGHT, as you know, dies out. Fifty years after the death of the author, I believe. Does property in a trade-word go on for ever? I know it ceases in one case: when the word is the name of a patented substance, property in the word lapses with the patent. But otherwise, does the ownership of a trade-word keep on going? I would like to see copyright endure a bit longer than it does . . . if a man has a right to leave the fruits of his labors to his young grandchildren, why has he no right to leave them to his old grandchildren as well? Especially if he happens to become famous sixty years after his death rather than forty years after?

I WOULD also like to see copyright in titles. No reputable publisher will pinch another firm's titles. Not on purpose, anyhow. Further, Hollywood has been known to pay many thousands for the use of a title alone (throwing the story itself down the drain), though there is no legal compulsion to pay money for the use of a title. But if a man invents a good title, I'm darned if I can see why he shouldn't own it. The art of naming a thing well is a rare and valuable and enormously pleasing gift. In fact, Samuel Butler went so far as to say the real test of genius is naming a kitten. Sam used to exaggerate. Sam also liked getting a rise out of people . . . especially his parents, which brings up an interesting situation: Sam's parents were a little stuffy, so Sam got many a rise out of them, so they got stuffier still (naturally), so Sam wrote a book about them. "The Way of All Flesh" hints to the reader that Sam's parents would have treated anyone as unreasonably as they treated Sam. But that ain't so. I still think Sam was partly right about naming kittens, though. It is a very testing branch of art.

AND talking of copyright, I think the estate of Bernard Shaw should be paying royalties to the estate of Sam Butler, even though Sam died 52 years ago. For Sam was the spiritual father of Shaw. Though if Sam treated his own father badly, perhaps he was asking for trouble from his own spiritual son, little George Bernard Butler Shaw. At the very least Shaw owed Butler the price of a hat, for it was often Butler's hat that Shaw was talking through. (This last crack, by the way, is neither by Butler nor by Shaw, but by me, so watch out . . . it will be copyright well into the 21st century.)

GOOD OLD DAVE

YESTERDAY an old friend saw my wife for the first time in years, and she said "Goodness, how do you keep your wife looking so well?" and I said "I let her work in the garden as much as she likes." Which is true enough.

THE TOURIST TRADE

I SEE that the astounding Australian name of Wooloomooloo is not a native word at all, but just a native pronounciation of Windmill Hill. Heck, we could attract tourists as easily as that ourselves. Victoria could be Weehorra. And Kembareeva for Campbell River would be quite pretty.

June 24, 1894 — An item in a late Glasgow Herald says: "Capt. Peterson of the Eclipse, which has arrived at Greenock from Vancouver, B.C., reports that on the voyage here he touched at Pitcairn Island. Fourteen of the islanders came aboard—a hospitable lot."

June 24, 1914—The police are as yet without any clue to the thief who broke into the office of Principal S. J. Willis of the new high school and stole the gold key presented to him at the opening.

As Our Readers See It

INTERNATIONAL CONTRIBUTION

At the recent convention of Rotary International at Seattle there is no question but that Mr. Bruce Hutchison was the most outstanding speaker.

The analyses he made of Canadian-United States relationships in the past were most enlightening and I am sure brought a new conception of history and economics to Rotarians from both sides of the line.

From remarks I heard his address was greatly appreciated by those from the United States, while at the same time it gave us Canadians an enlightened conception of U.S. foreign policy such as we seldom hear.

I could think of no greater service to Canadians than to have Mr. Hutchison's address made available to anyone who wishes it and hope you can find space to publish it in the Times.

Chairman, 1954 Convention Committee, Rotary International,

(Editor's Note: The speech is being published in pamphlet form and will shortly be available at The Times' office.)

GARBAGE

Man, given to thinking of the seven ages, thought not of the eighth age, the age of garbage so soon to strike upon his nose.

As Victorians, we pride ourselves upon the beauties of our environment and the famed Olympic Mountains in the distance. Never dreaming that we should be called upon to face the possible incidence of another range, closer to home by far, namely, the Garbage Range!

Of course garbage accumulates and without much imagination we may perhaps perceive the new Garbage Mountains arising in our midst.

VICTORIAN.

BOUNTIES FOR HUNTERS

After reading the articles, in both of Vancouver's leading newspapers, on the subject of predatory and bounty hunting of cougar, wherein Mr. Al West asks for the backing of the public to do away with bounty hunting, I would suggest that Mr. West give the public the true facts and the true figures concerning the following:

(1) What does it cost the game department for one cougar killed by a predatory hunter? Note: It costs the department only $40 per kill by bonus hunter. Unregistered hunters receive $20 per kill.

(2) How many cougar were killed by predatory hunters in the past year and how many by bonus hunters and sportsmen over the same period? Note: Predatory hunters do not have to produce evidence of their kills. Bonus hunters have to deliver the hides to a game warden.

(3) Have Mr. West and the game department looked into the danger of the use of cyanide guns to hunters, hikers, campers, bush workers, bird dogs and small fur-bearing animals (particularly marten and mink, who are attracted by the same lure)

(4) If the cyanide guns are going to be put into use, why did the game department spend $3,250 to purchase six new dogs (from Arizona) just to put a roof over their heads? Would not the 24 dogs the department already had be enough to look after specific complaints?

(5) The department now has 30 dogs. How many dogs have been purchased by the department since the predatory system was put into effect, and at what cost?

(6) What does it cost the department per year for the keep of the dogs (e.g., food, kennels, grounds and keepers)?

(7) Would it not be more practical and safer to give a substantial bounty to interest more experienced hunters and sportsmen who supply and keep their dogs?

RICH IN FRIENDS

Will you please allow me space in your valuable paper to write a letter of appreciation to the Kiwanis Village Society, its members and the Ladies' Auxiliary for their kind thoughtfulness towards the tenants of the village.

I find that the milk of human kindness still flows freely when it comes to thinking about what they, the Kiwanis, can do to make us happy and comfortable. At Christmas time the Ladies' Auxiliary came around with large sprays of evergreens and a Christmas box for each of the six cottages then occupied. In the Spring each of the 22 cottages received a bunch of "daffs," and again last Sunday, a gentleman called to inquire if we would like a bunch of roses. Earlier in the week a taxi man called with bedding plants. He explained that he could not give anything towards the "blitz," but he would like to do something for the village.

I have been in this country for 50 years, my wife for 48 years, and we have never in all that time had so much kindness shown.

Some folks seem to think that we of the "village" are well-to-do folks with incomes sufficient to keep us in luxury, and therefore they did not see why they should contribute toward the Kiwanis "blitz" held on May 31. I can assure you that such is not the case or the idea of the Kiwanis Society. Yes, we are rich in having so many thoughtful friends who are doing their best to see that the declining years of the folks here are made happy. I'm sure I speak for the whole village when I say, God bless all those who so unselfishly give their time and their flowers to help brighten our homes.

INVITE OWN GUESTS

Mr. Premier—You know the let-down re your northern developments are temporary. Advice will be poured upon you. My own financial vocabulary is limited. The Social Credit principles can guide us. The need of the country can be made financially possible—at home. There are experts who will know the how. Let us not be daunted. Let us share after the accomplishment and not before. The surplus is all we can afford to lend or give away. This is practical and may prove more philanthropic in the end. We must develop our resources or be invaded.

APPRECIATED

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the S.P.C.A. for their co-operation in trying to locate my lost female Doberman Pinscher, Fraulein.

I also appreciated their thoughtfulness in introducing me to Jane, a Dachshund, who was in the care of the S.P.C.A. until they could find a new home for her. Jane now has her new home and is happy and contented. Fraulein is still sorely missed but Jane has captured my affection.

At this time I would like to compliment the S.P.C.A. on their spotlessly clean kennels and their understanding and kindness in dealing with the animals under their care.

OLD AGE PENSIONERS

The forthcoming convention of the OAPO to be held in the city of Victoria may be epoch making and every delegate should be imbued with a sense of his individual responsibility to make it so.

The 1953 convention failed to solve or even approach the vexatious resolution, viz., the regional committee. If it is approached this year in the right spirit any differences could be adjusted amicably. Last year a reasonable formula was submitted to the Westminster branch and forwarded to the provincial board but apparently unheeded. Mr. G. Pelton, the guest speaker at the convention, gave a wise and timely warning. This, too, seemed to have failed. It is hoped that this year wisdom will prevail.

SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS

No wonder tit for tat hides behind a fictitious title I would jump in the lake if I had as little understanding as he has Apparently he doesnt read the times very often or he would know that I have had many constructive letters in it and I was well pleased with the service until recently the letter he is whining about had this kind of service continued however that incident is closed so far as I am concerned but I would like to say a few words for the benefit of my unseen friend I must say his self righteous attitude is amusing to say the least when you consider his insulting remarks about one he doesnt know he reminds me of some peopl I know who wouldnt utter a word of praise or encouragement if heaven was created before their very eyes yet if they thought they saw something wrong they would shout it from the house top.

Lunch Hour in the Workshop

BY QUO

VICTORIA is the nicest city in the Dominion in which to go blind.

That is if one must go blind.

About six years ago the gloom began to fall and I went stone blind in my right eye. Dr. Grieve performed a vitreous transplant of which I had read a month or so before I went blind. Now after five years I have nearly ten per cent vision in my right eye, which is slightly more than my left, the one which I had become accustomed to call my good eye.

Miss Stark, the teacher and head of the CNIB on Blanshard Street, came to the hospital and taught me to read Braille. She has since taught me to do leather lacing and basketry. She teaches those of us who cannot use a machine to type, and she has acquired such independence in her own blindness as to give courage and strength to us who are at first groping in the dim light.

Only one who has experienced the falling of darkness where the beautiful tracery of the trees against the evening sky becomes dark blobs along the roadsides can fully appreciate the darkness that descends upon the spirit.

But the beautiful building on Blanshard Street which is Victoria's Canadian National Institute for the Blind is a haven of hope and courage. Come in some day when you are shopping at the Bay and Miss Stark will gladly show you through it. It is your building, built and run by the money from your Community Chest.

The Victoria people are very kind to the blind. It is said that Victorians are not too generous with their Community Chest contributions, but to their credit they do not neglect their blind.

Vancouver is a city of a half a million, and yet in comparatively small Victoria we make as much at our annual blind sale as does the Vancouver CNIB.

If you want some really stimulating conversation pass by the workshop at luncheon hour.

The regular group consists of Mr. Browning, who runs his own business of caning and rushing chairs and stools both antique and modern; Mr. White, a First World War veteran who makes beautiful woven trays; Mrs. Monohaun, Lynn Ottley and Cliff Hinder, whom a man in a music store told me was the best piano tuner in Victoria.

He comes once a year to tune my piano but since his sight has become so poor that he can no longer read the house numbers has ceased to advertise, and now only tunes his regular customer's instruments and those who will provide him with transportation, and myself.

Poy comes every day after lunch. A lady for whom he cooked for thirty years goes every day to his residence and brings him down, and returns after four to drive him home. Poy is Chinese. He never starts any conversation, but he never misses a word anyone speaks.

Last Wednesday I was out when he came and thought it was Mr. Browning working at his own table when I remarked to Lynn, "I wonder where Poy is? Didn't he come today?" And instantly from the corner Poy called "Me over here!"

Do come in and see us some day soon.

TIME TO THINK

For more than twenty years I have found myself writing about critical events with no better guide to their generalizations of a rather bewildered man. Many a time I have wanted to stop and find out what I really believed.

ALL THINGS CONSIDERED

By STUART KEATE

It Isn't Cricket

THE foundations of the noble game of cricket were severely rocked at Windsor Park on Monday afternoon. What was to have been a pleasant little outing between the Fathers and Sons of Glenlyon School has become an international incident. Wembley is seething; Bridgetown is reported ready to turn in its charter; Jokarta is speechless; double gins have been ordered at the Royal Gale Face CC in Ceylon; angry cables are polling New Delhi, Melbourne and Johannesburg for opinion and immediate disciplinary action. There is a strong possibility that Ian Simpson will be compelled to turn in his tie.

Keate

I regret to say that I am the cause of it all. My son told me, simply, to report at the field in Oak Bay at 3.30 p.m. I did so, reporting directly from my office in a plain business suit of brown gabardine.

As I walked into the enclosure, I sensed immediately that something was wrong. Teacups suddenly went cold. Currant buns curled up and died. Scotches and sodas stopped hissing; the quiet was ominous. The face of an apoplectic Indian army major drained of all color. My boy took one look and went and hid in a bush.

I looked at my teammates. Ian Ross was wearing dazzling flannels with a maroon polo belt. Bert Binney looked like a Danish gymnast in impeccable white (although I do believe his T-shirt was a bit daring). Wally Bowden had on a striking cable-knit sweater. Dick Wilson was immaculate in a silk pongee shirt. John Wade looked like a picture out of The Tatler in slightly mouldering flannels, held aloft by a carelessly knotted Guards tie. When, in a sentimental moment, he whipped out his old cricket cap, an aged spectator mumured "The colors!" and wept silently into his biscuit. The odor of mothballs was clearly discernible.

It was my old friend "Pip" Sills who broke the tension. Taking me aside, he whispered furtively: "I say, old man, don't like to mention it, and all that, y'know—but you're improperly dressed!"

I hung my head. "Gad!" I blubbered.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, the Fathers were a man short and in a gesture of reckless defiance from which the Marylebone CC has not yet recovered, Headmaster Simpson ordered me into the game.

His son, Hamish, was acting as one of the umpires. As I stood up to the plate, he cried: "Centre your bat!"

"Never mind that!" I bellowed. "Just tell that little gossoon to fire one in and I'll slosh it."

("I say," one of the young fry called to a teammate, "I've never heard of such a thing since the day Scroggins Minor stuffed a potato up Scarrett's exhaust pipe.")

The opposing pitcher was a cheerful stripling named Ben Sills, and he was throwing aspirins. My batting partner, Dick Wilson, nicked one for a Texas leaguer and we ran. Ten feet from the opposing wicket I saw that it was going to be a close call. So I slud.

While I lay there safe but prostrate, picking cinders out of my nose, Umpire Anthony Emery upbraided me severely.

"Keate," he said, "there is no room in this sport for levity. You must understand—cricket is a ritual, not a game."

It was, of course, all a misunderstanding. As Captain Wilson raced by, I thought I heard him yell "Slide!" What he really cried was "Side, side!" for when I looked up the entire team had adjourned for tea.

★ ★ ★

What nobody realized, of course, was that I was practising Gamesmanship of a very high order. The brown-gabardines play was taught to me many years ago by a classmate named Marmaduke Dench, who secretly detested cricket, invented the gambit, and never lost a match in his life.

May I say, with modesty, that it was a brilliant success, completely unnerving not only my own side but the opposition. When I left, the score was 97 to 52 in our favor. A real pitcher's battle.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Hopeless Battles

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Every so often someone comes in, perhaps the wife of an alcoholic, hoping that I can figure out some way in which she can cure her husband without his co-operation or even against his will. I always tell such people that years ago, when I was young and enthusiastic and ignorant, I often used to try to cure people against their will, but after a while I learned that about all I did was to earn their dislike.

I learned that it is hard enough for an alcoholic or a morphine addict to get straightened out when he is very anxious to be cured, but when the supposedly repentant alcoholic keeps a bottle hidden on the top pantry shelf, or when the addict comes into the hospital for a "cure" with a supply of morphine sewn into the hem of his coat, the doctor hasn't a chance.

Dr. Alvarez

The leaders of Alcoholics Anonymous, that organization which has been so successful in helping alcoholics, understand these facts so clearly that they won't bother with a man until, of his own free will, and without any urging from anyone, he will come to them and say, "This thing has me licked. I'm not running the bluff any longer that I can take it or leave it; I'm an alcoholic; I desperately want to get well; I want to get back my job, my family, and my self-respect, and I see now that I can't do it alone. I need help, and I am asking it of you." When a man gets into that mood, then he can start getting well.

APPLIES TO OTHERS

It's the same way with hundreds of thousands of people whose illness is due to bad habits; they would like to be well again, but they are not yet willing to make a big effort. A stout woman would like to be slim and attractive again, but she isn't yet ready to diet; a man would like to stop getting that terrible pain in his chest, but he does not want to so bad that he'll quit smoking three packages a day or blowing his top. These people always remind me of the little boy whom I once heard saying, "I wish I wanted to do that."

There are many of us who wish for promotion with a bigger salary, but we won't study evenings so as to prepare for the new and more difficult job. Here is a man who would like to go to South America as head of his firm's big branch down there, but he won't bother to learn Spanish. Here is a man who would like to stop gambling and losing all his money and his wife's love, but he does not want to bad enough. Until these people want to change very, very much, no one can help them.

WEAKENING OF BONES

Many persons are worried because someone, on making an X-ray examination, discovered that some of the bones, and perhaps particularly those of the spine, were lacking in calcium. The shadows of these bones on the X-ray films were too faint. Occasionally, such a thin bone will snap because of a little strain, and sometimes the spine will cave in and bend over forward so that the person is made very round-shouldered.

Usually the patient is a man or woman past the age of 50, and usually the impression the attending physicians get is that the osteoporosis has something to do with the aging process. Years ago, Dr. Fuller Albright, at Harvard, spent much of his life studying this subject, and he came to the conclusion the disease was due largely to a loss of function in some of the glands of internal secretion. He suggested that it be treated with extracts of both the female and the male glands.

My impression has been that this treatment commonly fails to do much good, but it is worth trying. Usually it does not do much good to give calcium and Vitamin D. Fortunately, in most cases, the osteoporosis does not seem to do any harm, and it doesn't produce any symptoms.

CRUST-FORMING NOSE

Many people ask what they can do for a dry nose which tends to crust a bit, and especially at night. All I can learn is that some able nose specialists recommend that each day the person spray into his nose with an atomizer some hydrocarbon oil.

'OUR VOICES GIVE US AWAY'

Britain Anti-American, U.S. Author-Critic Finds

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — A tough American Liberal, taking a close look at Britain, finds that anti-Americanism flourishes here, and that there isn't much you can do about it.

Author and critic Mary McCarthy thought when she arrived that anti-Americanism couldn't happen to her. But it did. After a time the sound of her own voice saying "I guess" — an expression uncommon among the natives — made her feel apologetic.

Opinions differ on the extent of anti-Americanism. Miss McCarthy, here as part of an assignment for New Yorker magazine, felt it was overrated.

"But I was wrong," she now says. "We are unpopular and precisely with the man in the street, the man in the restaurant or railway car, who stiffens when he hears our American voices, as if he were suddenly aware of the ticking of an infernal machine inside a harmless - looking parcel of flesh.

"It is our voices that give us away. Until we open our mouths we escape notice. Once we have spoken every blue eye is on us, covertly, with disfavor."

BLAMES FEAR

Miss McCarthy, respected in British literary and intellectual circles as a sharp, perceptive writer, gave her views on the BBC's highbrow Third program. She distilled the reasons for anti-Americanism into one word: Fear.

Politics today were like Russian roulette. The revolver was pointed at the world's head and nobody knew which chamber was loaded. Fear of the United States thus was simply a localization of the universal fear of the future.

Miss McCarthy traced the swing in liberal American opinion from distrust of Britain to adulation of the British "middle way."

English critics are held up as exemplars to our own, as well as English actors, English education, English ballet, English movies, English shoes, automobiles, biscuits, British intelligence and the prose style of an ordinary Englishman writing a letter to The Times. There can never have been a period . . . when England was so prized."

Tolmie Scouts, Guides To Parade to Church

The 25 scouts and 25 guides will march from the parish hall to the church where the sermon will be delivered by Canon F. Pike.

Adenauer Faces Test Sunday In Ruhr Vote

9 Million Mark Potent Ballots

DUSSELDORF (AP) — Nine million Germans in the Ruhr industrial belt will vote Sunday in a state election testing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's grip for the first time since his successful 1953 campaign.

Adenauer's Christian Democrats and a potent opposition array headed by the Socialists stake the outcome in North Rhine-Westphalia on foreign policy.

Adenauer wants a renewed vote of confidence in European unity, while the Socialists say unity between Germany's eastern and western wings should come first.

The rightist Free Democrats, part of Adenauer's governing national coalition, are running independently here. They demand diplomatic relations with Moscow followed by negotiations with the Soviet Union to reunite Germany.

SEES RUSSIAN DEAL

An Adenauer defeat in balloting for the 200-member North Rhine-Westphalia Parliament would almost inevitably stir rumblings inside other Adenauer coalition parties for a new look in West German foreign policy—meaning an attempt to make a deal with Russia.

A Christian Democrat setback would also deprive Adenauer of his two-thirds control of the Upper House of the Bonn federal Parliament. Each state legislature sends representatives to this chamber.

In the national election nine months ago, the Christian Democrat polled 48.9 per cent of the vote in North Rhine-Westphalia. The Socialists got 31.9 per cent; the Free Democrats 8.5 and the Communists 2.9.

The Christian Democrats hold 94 seats in the present state Parliament, followed by the Socialists with 67, the Free Democrats with 26 and the Communists with 12.

EVEN MIXER COULDN'T WEAKEN COUGH SYRUP

TORONTO (BUP)—A company accused of making a cough syrup with more kick than whisky faces judgment on June 29 after a court fight involving the tastes of Eskimos and people in the Balkans.

Magistrate C. A. Thoburn reserved judgment Tuesday after defense counsel Arthur Maloney argued that only people with abnormal tastes would enjoy the medicine anyway.

He pointed out that even Crown witnesses had admitted they could barely swallow the syrup without mixer, although one witness said a Balkan liquor called Rakki tasted even worse.

GREEKS HAVE HISTORIC ISLAND TIES . . . THAT'S WHY 800 WILL COME HERE

Eight hundred Greek delegates who will be here Friday attending a three-day international convention chose to meet in Victoria for an unusual reason.

They chose Victoria as their convention site because Vancouver Island and the Pacific Northwest were discovered by a Greek.

His name was Juan de Fuca, and in 1592 he sailed up the strait that bears his name. His real name was John Phokas of the island of Chepalonia, who was known also as Apostolos Valerianos.

Juan de Fuca carried out various missions on the Pacific side of the American continent for the King of Spain.

Tom Kelles, a leading member of the city Greek community, points out the Greeks have another historical association with Victoria.

The first Greek to settle in British North America, he said was George Kapiotis, a soldier of fortune who reached Victoria in 1851.

He married the daughter of an Indian chief; his granddaughter married John Douglas, grandson of Governor Sir James Douglas; and his great-grandchild, Dr. George Athens, became Canadian springboard champion and represented Canada at the Olympic Games in 1936.

The organization to meet here is fraternal and is known as Ahepa (the American-Hellenic Education Progressive Association). It emphasizes good citizenship and gives generously to charities, as well as donating large sums of money to the homeless people in Greece suffering from the after-effect of war, earthquakes and fire.

The organization, Mr. Kelles also said, operates one of the largest settlements in North America for retired persons.

"It is our proud boast that not one person of Grecian nationality is receiving either civic or municipal relief in the United States or Canada," he said. "We take care of all our old people."

B.C. Jaycees Will Continue Coast Guard Bid at Convention

Alf Heaslip of the Junior Chamber of Commerce is in Regina today atttending the 19th annual Jaycee convention as a representative of the junior chamber here.

Approximately 300 delegates are on hand representing 25,000 young businessmen from across Canada.

Mr. Heaslip will forward a recommendation at the convention urging that local chamber committees be established to police newsstands in the current anti-crime comic drive.

Resolutions to be considered ask a Canadian coast guard, put forward by the Vancouver chamber and supported by the Victoria group, and a new system of marking railway crossingss.

The convention will last four days.

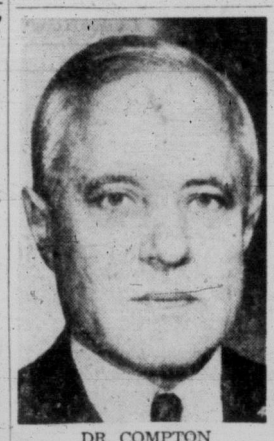

SHIP AFIRE AT SEA JUST BLAZE IN BARREL

Several hundred Victorians rushed to waterfront viewpoints Tuesday night for grandstand seats to watch a fire at sea.

But what many thought to be a blazing ship turned out to be a controlled fire in an empty tar barrel aboard Ss. Seattle, Swedish freighter bound from Vancouver to the U.S. shore.

The flames from the barrel, shooting 10 to 15 feet in the air, were first spotted from the King George Terrace area, and an alarm was telephoned to the fire department. Fire equipment and police cars raced to Ogden Point in the belief the freighter was coming in.

In addition to city fire equipment, Island Tug & Barge's fireboats and barge were alerted and ready for action.

View Royal Residents Fear Epidemic

Want District Ditches Cleaned; Two Polio Cases Blamed on Situation

Fearing an epidemic due to unsanitary sewage disposal, View Royal residents have requested the department of public works to clean out the ditches in their area.

View Royal is in unorganized territory, under provincial government jurisdiction.

W. Maude-Moore, vice-president of the View Royal Community Association, said the ditches in the area were in a deplorable state and a danger to public health.

"It is a wonder we haven't had an epidemic in the district," he said.

Other residents blame two polio cases on the unsanitary state of the ditches.

Residents said the most seriously affected areas are on both sides of Helmcken, lower Stewart Avenue, all of Beaumont and most of View Royal Avenue.

Music and Color In Symphony

Gloriously warm, still, and scented air of Butchart's Gardens will soon echo to strains of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra. Evening concerts there start at 8.15 p.m., July 8, 15, 22 and 29. If concerts should be rained out they will be held on the following Sunday at 2.30 p.m. Pictures here show attractive entrance sign, and owner-manager Ian Ross examining rare blue Himalayan poppies which grew from original seed brought to gardens just after turn of century. Gardens today are chock full of riotous color. (Times Photos.)

Kitimat Aluminum Firm, Workers Agree on New Two-Year Contract

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—The Aluminum Company of Canada and its employees represented by the AFL Aluminum Workers' Council have agreed on a two-year contract for the province's newest industry here.

Provisions of the contract include a seven to 13 cents an hour general wage increase, an extra one cent an hour in shift differentials, seven paid holidays, and company payment of half the cost of Medical Services Association coverage.

Settlement followed Saturday's expulsion of former aluminum workers president Wally Ross, who was unmasked as a paid organizer for the rival United Steel Workers of America (CIO) Union.

NEW CONTRACT WITH CMS WILL GIVE MINERS $1.85

VANCOUVER (CP)—Kimberley and Trail workers of the Independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers have voted 1,740 to 782 in favor of a new one-year contract with Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company. Retroactive to June 1, hourly wage scale for miners now is $1.85, laborers $1.50, and tradesmen $1.95.

MP Protests $1.25 Charge For Locating Vets' Graves

OTTAWA (CP)—A veteran of the Second World War said Tuesday night that the Imperial War Graves Commission charges $1.25 to pin-point graves of Canadian servicemen buried overseas.

Walter Dinsdale PC-Brandon-Souris, who served as a flight lieutenant in the RCAF, told the Commons that "this charge of $1.25 for the individual record of a grave is going a little too far."

The commission sent a prepared form to next-of-kin of servicemen asking them if they would like an official registry of graves of Canadian buried overseas. On payment of $1.25 the commission agreed to provide the exact location.

Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe said he understands that the commission sells a small booklet for $1.25. The booklet describes a particular cemetery, gives a list of the men buried and a history of the campaigns in the area.

Next-of-kin of servicemen buried overseas received an official grave registration which contained the name of the cemetery and a photo of the grave. This was provided free.

Atomic Cannon Report Denied By East Germans

BERLIN (AP)—The press office of Soviet zone premier Otto Grotewohl Tuesday night denied Western newspaper reports that Soviet atomic cannon were stationed in East Germany.

The West German Frankfurter Neue Presse reported Monday taht the first Soviet atomic cannon, which it said topped U.S. A-guns in range, calibre and weight, had arrived in the Soviet zone.

The press office denial was published by the official ADN news agency. It did not refer to the Neue Presse report but singled out a similar dispatch carried by a Swiss newspaper.

Reporter Finds Canada's No. 1 Airman Friendly, Affable, Singularly Uninformative

By DICK FREEMAN

BRENTWOOD — Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, Canada's RCAF chief, isn't the easiest person to interview.

I called on him after dinner Tuesday evening at Brenta Lodge, intent on getting some informative quotes on the air defense system over which he presides.

The result was not what a newspaperman would term satisfactory. He was affable, certainly not loquacious.

"I thought I would be able to get in and out of here without meeting the press," he said with a disarming grin.

He strode into the lounge with military precision, sank luxuriously into a deep-stuffed divan. There was no hint of the paraphernalia associated with service brass. He had the air of a successful business executive.

"You know," he confided, "it's good to get out of uniform once in a while. It has been a particularly busy grind during the past few weeks. And this is a delightful spot in which to relax."

"Has your visit to the west coast any significance apart from . . . ?

"None whatever," he cut in adroitly.

The air marshal had just flown in from Comox, where he spent most of the day inspecting the mushrooming air force station up-Island.

"I found everything satisfactory there," he said.

Trying to draw a lead, I asked him about the situation at Patricia Bay, formerly a bustling RCAF station, since developed as a commercial airport.

"As you doubtless know," he replied, "we have no active units stationed at Patricia Bay right now. The nature of the terrain with its surrounding hills makes the station unsuitable for large-scale air force operations."

He referred to the recent visit of the Avenger squadron here, and conceded that other coast-to-coast flights of this nature were possible.

Switching the conversation, Air Marshal Slemon recalled pleasant recollections of Victoria.

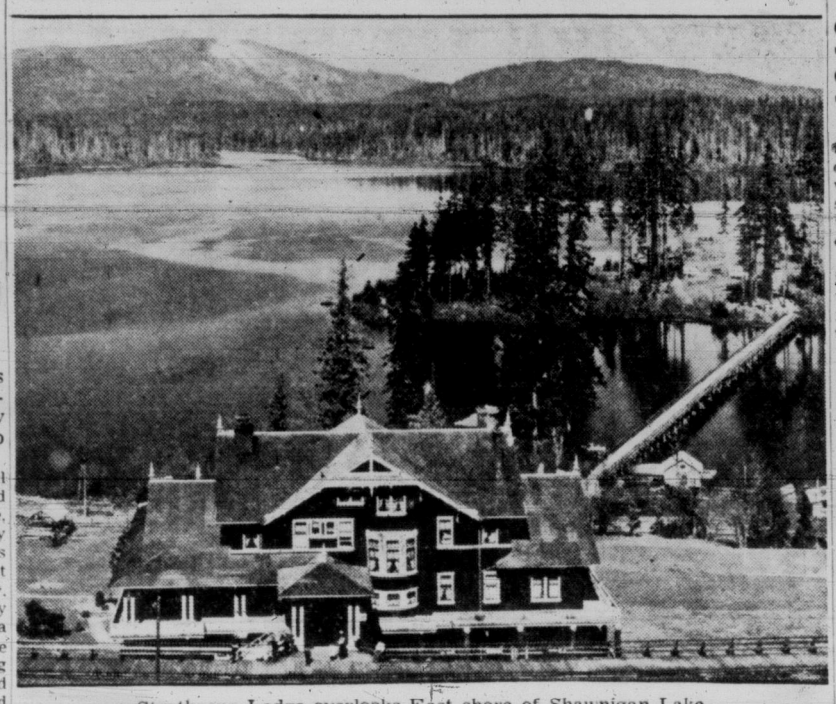

"I was stationed here at the outbreak of war until I went overseas in 1941," he said. "I was a group captain then."

"I made many friends during my stay here. All Victoria was very good to us in those days," he said.

After renowned service the air marshal has reached the top. This is the first air safari he has made to the Pacific coast since he was elevated to his present office. He is accompanied on the present tour by Mrs. Slemon, a charming and vivacious personality.

Squadron Leader A. R. Durston, the air marshal's aide, spent the day looking up former friends in the city. The party leaves Thursday for the return flight to Ottawa.

Pulp Supreme For Newsprint Raw Material

Sugar Cane Substitute Not as Good According to Peruvian Producer

A Peruvian paper mill executive whose firm uses bagasse as a substitute for woodpulp in making newsprint said today the synthetic process could not seriously compete with the woodpulp product.

Carl L. Hackbarth, general superintendent of the Sociedad Agricola Paramonga of Supe, Peru, said at Montreal today that the Canadian method was far better even though it cost more than the bagasse variety.

Hackbarth, whoe company has been using bagasse—a sugar cane derivative—since 1939 as one way of getting around a dollar shortage, said in an interview that "a good chemist could transform almost any vegetable matter into paper." The main thing was to do it economically, he said between sessions of the 35th annual convention of the American Pulp and Paper Mill Superintendents' Association.

He said that if bagasse were to be used extensively to make paper, a different source of fuel, such as oil, would have to be used in refineries.

The Quebec provincial papermaking school at Three Rivers has been experimenting with bagasse as a substitute for woodpulp in newsprint production for several years. It tried a new process in 1951 and reported it was successful.

SOX CONTINUE WINNING WAYS

CHEMAINUS — Chemainus Red Sox stretched their Mid-Island loop lead over the week-end when they swept a twin bill from Duncan Athletics by scores of 3-2 and 10-1.

Doug English won his fourth straight game in the opener as the Red Sox came from behind to edge out the "A's." Cub Woolf pitched a five-hitter in the nightcap to get his third win.

The double victory gives the Chemainus team a 12-1 won and lost average for the season.

Lions Club Entertains Patrol Head

LANGFORD — Clifford Kilduff, young captain of the Langford School safety patrol, was honored Tuesday night at a meeting of Langford and District Lions Club.

The club, which sponsors the patrol, presented him with a baseball glove and made him their special guest for the evening.

Presentation was made by Jack Fuller, immediate past president.

Fred Willway, conducting his first meeting since his installation as president, welcomed Don McLeod, president of Esquimalt Lions Club, and several of his members as guests.

The Esquimalt Lions brought with them a tape recording of an address by Jack Spickley, international third vice-president, addressing the district 19 convention.

It was announced that swimming and water safety classes, sponsored by Lions and the Red Cross, will begin Monday at the public beach, Langford Lake. No more registrations will be accepted.

Island Couple Aids Search for Father

VANCOUVER (CP) — Search for 70-year-old Alexander Kennedy, missing from his home here for nearly a week, is being extended.

His daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Elliott of Muchalat, Vancouver Island, have arrived to help police.

Mr. Kennedy left home last Thursday to go for a haircut, and has not been seen since.

B.C. Electric bus drivers are also trying to locate the man, a former company maintenance engineer.

Hospital Fund Now $35,000

LADYSMITH — Board of Ladysmith General Hospital hopes to get the proposed $300,000 hospital here started by the fall.

Total of $35,000 has been raised, and trustees are putting on an energetic campaign to complete the quota preliminary to getting the provincial government's approval to proceed with construction. The province will contribute to the cost of the building.

Whittaker & Wagg of Victoria have finished the plans for the fireproof structure.

Former Hotel At Shawnigan Opens July 1

Girls' School For 28 Years

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — Strathcona Lodge, on Shawnigan Lake about one mile south of the village, will be opened as a hotel July 1 for the first time in 26 years.

The building, erected in the early 1900s and operated on lease from the CPR, was last used as a hotel in 1928. In that year it was taken over as a private school for girls, and operated continuously until 1952.

Manager will be Elmer Bryan. Associated with him in the operating company, Strathcona Lodge Ltd., registered at $100,000, are Raymond Bryan, H. Fradlye, Harry Baldwin and G. Urquart of Vancouver, and S. Stephens of Port Alberni.

YEAR-ROUND OPERATION

With partners and other help, a staff of about 16 will be at work in the hotel. It is hoped to operate on a year-round basis.

Facilities include a large hall, 23 rooms in the main building, another 20 rooms in the annex that may be used as suites, and cabins.

Victoria Inboard-Outboard Association will use the hotel beachfront as headquarters for a regatta July 4.

Fisherman Fined For Possession Of Salmon Roe

NANAIMO—Charles W. Nash, Nanaimo district manager, B.C. Power Commission, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate Beevor-Potts Monday for illegal possession of salmon roe while angling June 19 in Copper Canyon, Chemainus River.

"Though I am convinced that you were not actually using the roe, possession is in contravention of the special fishing regulations and carries a maximum fine of $1,000 and a year in jail. I am obliged to fine you the minimum," said the magistrate.

Charges were laid by game wardens O. Mottishaw and F. Greenfield.

CHEMAINUS CAR POOL BENEFITS VETERANS

CHEMAINUS—Local veterans who are confined to Victoria hospitals will receive more visits from members of their families in future, as a result of a car pool originated by Canadian Legion president Bert Beggs.

To date, 15 members have volunteered their cars and services to transport wives and relatives of "shut-ins" to visit them on Sundays.

Accepted as members of Branch 191 at the regular monthly meeting were W. E. Foulds, Clifford Jones and H. E. Thornett. Rev. Alan Howes was accepted as an honorary branch member.

Plans have been completed for the erection of a retaining wall at the back of the Cenotaph property. A number of lengths of pipe to be used in the wall construction have been donated.

A picnic for branch members and their children is planned for the near future. A donation of $14 was made to the branch by Harry Otto. Mr. Otto makes up bunches of flowers and sells them at various branch functions. His donation was made up of proceeds from the sale of these flowers during the past few months.

School District Rural Area Seeks Secession Plebiscite

COBBLE HILL—Representatives of the unorganized portion of Cowichan School District 65 will seek to have their plea for secession from the district put to the ratepayers in the form of a plebiscite.

At a meeting Monday night in Cobble Hill School, representatives agreed that they had fulfilled an earlier request from the education department to "take their problems regarding secession to the school board."

"Having exhausted all reasonable efforts with the school board, we feel that the secession controversy should be put to the ratepayers in the form of a plebiscite," said Trustee George E. Bonner.

"It is an issue on which the people should be allowed to express an opinion," he said. "This seems a fair and reasonable proposal that should be approved by the department."

The request will be sent to the education minister.

Eventually the new span will be a part of the Island Highway, which is being rerouted through Brechin and Northfield.

The new bridge will replace the present structure, which has a load limit of five tons.

Cougar Kills Reported at Coast Towns

Reports of cougar trouble have been received this past week from various centres on both coasts of Vancouver Island.

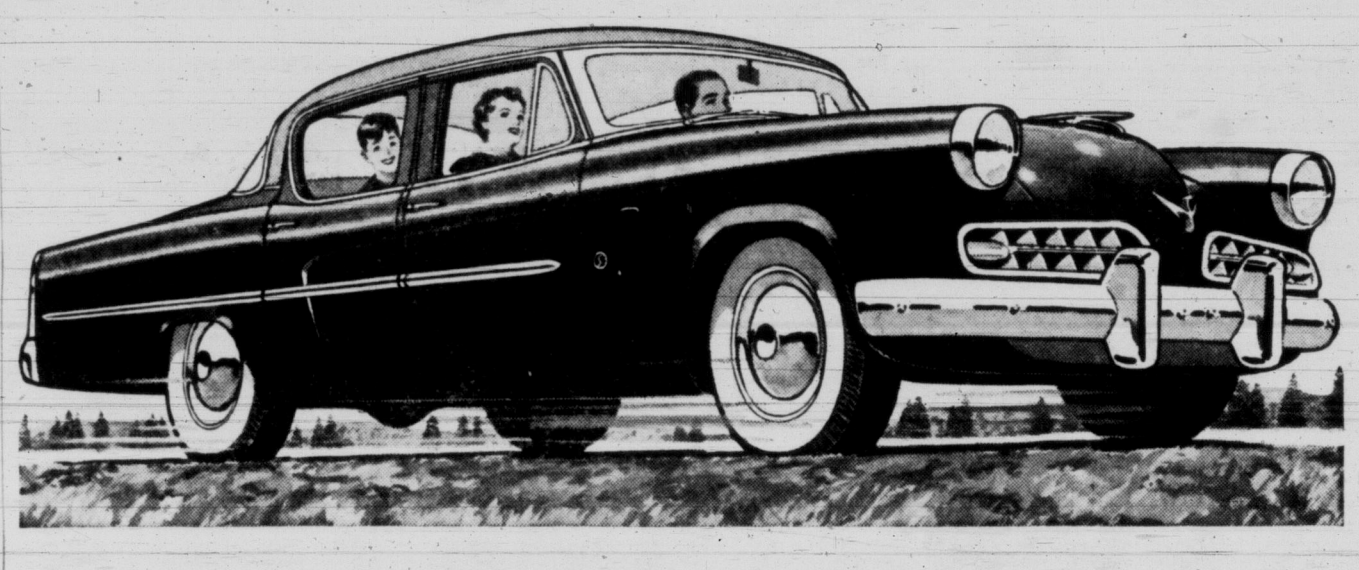

Information received from Englewood, on the northeast coast, tells of a three-way fight between a cougar, man and dog. The man, armed with an axe, won. The dog came out with minor injuries and the cougar was killed.

Victor was 20-year-old Lyle Forbes, a university student working in the woods this summer, on survey work.

Forbes was returning to camp after his day's work when his dog, running ahead, was attacked by a 60-pound cat. The cougar had the dog by the leg when Forbes rushed to effect a rescue. He killed the cat with the third blow.

From Tofino came other reports of cougars attacking dogs and young cattle. Several large cats have been treed and shot in the area.

BOYS' BAND HERE TONIGHT

Rocks to Host Royals

Victoria Shamrocks recently were told that they were playing "like a bunch of old women."

Last week an angry Irish club set out to prove to PNE Indians that the accusation could be disproved. They succeeded and tonight will try the same tactics on New Westminster Royals.

It was coach Red McMillan who did the calling down last week, charging his players with shirking their defensive duties and paying too much attention to their press clippings.

McMillan's blast, the first serious one delivered this season, had a positive effect upon his charges. They turned in a gem of a defensive game, checking the way they haven't been doing all season and fully justifying their position at the head of the standings. The 12-5 victory they scored over the Indians was one of the most crowd-pleasing games seen at Memorial Arena this season, and it was the stout Shamrock checking and aggressive ball-hawking that made it such.

Tonight it will be the New Westminster "Boys' Band," Ralph Douglas' young and flying Royals, who will stack up against the Irish and their newly-found aggressiveness.

Rocks have a record of three wins in four starts against Royals this season.

Tonight the Irish will have a speedy line-up that may be able to keep pace with Royals.

Geordy Johnston will be in goal, with Bob Monaghan, Arnie Ferguson, Nip O'Hearn and Jackie Thompson forming the defensive patrols.

First forward line will be made up of Whitey Severson, Archie Browning and Larry Booth, and the second unit will be the productive three-some of Jackie Northup, Norm Baker and Jack Bionda.

Bill Bamford will replace Jack Sibbald on the third line, joining Al Gill and Harry Irwin.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

What other people are doing and saying and why:

Spokane Indians and Calgary Stampeders have dropped out of the Western International Baseball League because there is a general public apathy toward the sport in both those centres.

Bus Lacey of Calgary says simply.

"This has gone far enough," . . . far enough for Bus, at conservative estimates, being upwards of $60,000 in the red in a little over a year and a bit.

Coach Bruce Humber of the YMCA track and field has promoted three outstanding track meets here in the last three years, but every time the weather fouls up the gate appeal.

The result is that Bruce's friends have presented him with a book entitled:

"How to predict the weather."

Lean and limber John Landy of Australia, after cracking the world record for the mile in the startling time of 3.58, predicted modestly:

"It's not impossible to run even faster than I did yesterday (Monday)."

Regarding the man most likely to eclipse the new record, Landy put the finger on Wes Santee of the United States:

"Santee has the best possibilities," he said.

Roger Bannister, whose mark of 3.59.4 that Landy beat, commented:

"I can hardly wait to run against Landy."

Australian newspapers headlined the feat with the following captions:

"Landy does it."

"Another miracle."

Then there was the young lad who after seeing his first lacrosse game was asked how he liked it.

"Oh, it was all right," the youngster replied, "but I liked the clowns best."

Asked for a further explanation, the youngster replied:

"They were the fellows in the striped shirts."

★ ★ ★

Could it be that the reason the Western Hockey League reversed itself on the draft ruling with the American Hockey League is that the Quebec Hockey League fell down on its part of the bargain?

Originally the WHL declined to accept lower status than the AHL; then, in an abrupt about-face, they conceded. Of course its more than possible that the QHL had no other choice, being as close to the NHL as its clubs are and depending on the NHL for players.

★ ★ ★

On the same theme, it's definite now that responsible interests are active in Regina toward securing a WHL franchise. . . . And for the caller who requested the information, Longacres race track in Seattle opens its season this Friday. The meet runs for 54 days, Wednesdays through Sundays of each week. . . . Incidentally, for the first time, Longacres will sell $10 daily double tickets this season.

★ ★ ★

And here's a cute legal definition of "playing the races" that was recently included in a court decision in the United States:

"A concrete effort to ascertain which of two or more specimens of the genus equidae shall demonstrably exhibit the greater comparative rapidity in passing from one given point to another given point."

'DIFFERENT THIS TIME'

Marlene Confident Of Retaining Title

LONDON (CP) — Marlene Stewart, the Fonthill, Ont., golfing lass who specializes in championships, is back in Britain to defend her amateur crown but somehow "it's different this time," she said Monday.

The bronze-haired 20-year-old dubbed "Little Miss Maple Leaf" last year by British sports writers on her first appearance here, arrived Sunday by air to defend her title. Play starts next Monday. She talked about how it feels to be defending champion.

"Last year, I didn't know what to expect and I just played golf. "Of course, that's all I have to do this year if I want to win.

"Confidence? I guess I have it. It just seems different this year."

Monday she left for Ganton, a few miles inland from the Yorkshire coastal town of Scarborough, where she anticipates six days of stiff practice. She doesn't plan to concentrate on any one part of her game.

She expects to run into the same players she met last year, when she won the title by a wide margin in the 36-hole match play final with Philomena Garvey, Irish golf queen.

Pils Trip Tribe

Pilseners 9, Indians 4

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bobbie Marsh, lauded by coach John Cavallin as a throwback to the old-time boxla greats, engineered Vancouver Pilseners to a 9-4 triumph over PNE Indians at Kerrisdale Arena Tuesday night.

Marsh, who drew the accolades along with torrid rookie goalkeeper Ron Delmonico, scored two goals and assisted on another as Pilseners moved to within one game of the second place Indians in the Inter-City Lacrosse League race.

Pilseners emerged 2-1 leaders at the end of the first period in this battle of "theories" and pumped it to 5-2 at the half. They wrapped it up convincingly in the third quarter by blanking the tribe 2-0.

Orioles Inherit Browns' Traits

Browns or Orioles, St. Louis or Baltimore, the sad fact seems to be that it's a last-place ball club. More than $5,000,000 have been spent on the franchise since a year ago today. The net result in the won and lost columns is a game-and-a-half improvement.

The Orioles have won 22 games and lost 42. A year ago today the Browns stood 21-44.

The Orioles of 1954 lost their ninth in a row Thursday night, 3-1, to Boston in 12 innings. It also was their ninth straight loss at home, starting June 1.

ONE DIFFERENCE

The only outstanding difference is in the crowds. The Browns lost in privacy. More than 130,000 have suffered with the Orioles through their last nine defeats.

The Orioles are 22½ games behind the Cleveland Indians who lost one game of their American League lead Tuesday night. The Indians bowed to Philadelphia, 4-1, while Chicago was beating Washington, 7-5. This moved the White Sox within three games of the Indians.

The New York Yankees lost at Detroit, 4-1, and stayed five games behind.

In the National League the New York Giants continued to come up with hair-raising finishes, shading Milwaukee, 3-2, on a bases-loaded single by Monte Irvin with two out in the ninth inning. Cincinnati mauled Brooklyn, 13-1, for its fifth straight victory. Philadelphia defeated Chicago, 4-1. St. Louis and the Pirates were rained out.

A GIANT FINISH

The Giants came up with another climax that Hollywood wouldn't dare to offer. They trailed 2-1 going into the last of the ninth. A walk, a sacrifice, a single by Don Mueller and a double by Willie Mays tied the score. With the bases loaded and two out Leo Durocher sent up Irvin as a pinch hitter. He was hitless in his last 26 times at bat but Monte met the first pitch for a single and the Giants won again.

LANDY SEEKS MORE RECORDS

TURKU, Finland (UP)—John Landy, the young Australian who ran a 3.58 mile on Monday, said today he will try to crack the two-mile and 3,000-metre records of 8.40.4 and 7.58.8 held by Belgium's Gaston Reiff on Friday.

He will attack the records at Jori, Finland, Friday evening, and Finnish athletic experts concede him a good chance of setting new marks for both distances.

Marys Score Upset Win Over Fosters

A pair of hot Rods hooked up in what started out to be a tight Senior B Softball League pitching battle at Heywood Avenue Park Tuesday night. But neither of them were on the hill when it was all over and Mary's Coffee Bar walked off with a 7-6 upset victory over Joe Fosters.

Rod Hallam of Mary's and Rod Turner of Fosters started and it was 1-0 for Mary's for 4½ innings. However, things broke open in the late innings with Hallam departing in favor of Maurie Creelman and Turner being lifted for Bob Lyons.

HALL OF FAME FOR BOXERS PROVOKES ARGUMENT

Fearless Picks Fistic Best

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Boxing is getting ready today to institute a Hall of Fame and the original election promises to provide a bigger battle than any of the candidates ever fought.

You can get agreement on the first half dozen clouting nominees. But with the boxing Boswells limited to fighters of the last 35 years, it develops into a free-for-all from that point on.

Just to let you in to the argument, here's fearless Fraley's ballot on the 10 greatest fighters through that period. And to bolster your ammunition, I'll list them for you in order:

1. Jack Dempsey.
2. Henry Armstrong.
3. Benny Leonard.
4. Sugar Ray Robinson.
5. Joe Louis.
6. Harry Greb.
7. Mickey Walker.
8. Gene Tunney.
9. Rocky Marciano.
10. Tony Canzoneri.

This ignores such fabled fighters as Jimmy McLarnin, Lew Tendler, Lou Ambers, Barney Ross, Marcel Cerdan, Lew Jenkins—and on into the night.

With Dempsey's selection there can be no argument. The Mauler, who will be 59 Thursday, still could chill a lot of these stiffs masquerading as heavyweights. Armstrong was a real fighting man who in 1938 at one time held the featherweight, welterweight and lightweight championships — a three-way feat never accomplished before or since.

Leonard was another who loved the business and worked hard and successfully at it. He held the lightweight title seven years before retiring undefeated, which is a remarkable feat in that crowded division. Robinson, both as welter and middleweight champion, rightfully was regarded as, pound for pound, one of the greatest ever to tie on the gloves.

Louis, you may think, deserves a higher ranking. But, one of the greatest of them all, he lost a lot of lustre with a comeback in which he lost to Ezzard Charles and was kayoed by Rocky Marciano. That must fit into the overall picture.

Greb, too, should draw support on the necessary 75 per cent of the boxing ballots. Only a middleweight, he won the light heavyweight title from Gene Tunney and was definitely a fighter's fighter.

From there the argument rages, however.

This may not be the victorious 10 when the votes are counted—but I don't see how the first seven can miss.

Kelsall Hurls Two-Hitter

Sparkling pitching performances are frequent in the Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association bantam league.

Tuesday night at Beacon Hill Park, Rickey Kelsall hurled a neat two-hitter and struck out 16 batters in pitching Hagels Chesterfield to an 8-2 victory over Esquimalt Eagles.

Kelsall also had a hand in the attack with four hits in five appearances off losing pitcher Barry Menzies. Robin Barnes had four hits in four trips to the plate for the winners.

Eagles' Tee Tourney At Gorge Vale July 4

The Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold their eighth annual golf tournament at Gorge Vale Golf Club July 4.

All city and Island Eagles have been invited to take part in the annual tournament. Tee-off time will be 10 a.m.

Heading the field will be Bill Neilson, who won the championship and tournament trophy last year. For further information Eagles are asked to contact the Eagles Home, 751 View Street, or phone George Cole at 4-3843.

Scores Seventh Victory; Tyees to Remain on Road

Victoria 5, Lewiston 2

Bob Drilling, the "stopper" of the Victoria Tyee pitching staff, performed his job of backslide prevention perfectly Tuesday night at Lewiston.

Drilling now is the guy who usually gets the call when the rest of the staff fails and the club starts slipping down in the standings.

After three pitchers failed to halt the Lewiston bats Monday night and Tyees hit the cellar, Drilling came back and pitched a neat 5-2 victory Tuesday, giving up six hits in a tight mound duel with John Marshall.

It was Drilling's seventh win against five losses.

Drilling gave up a single run in the first inning on Larry Barton's home run, but outfielder Neil Sheridan got that one back in the fourth with a solo home run.

Lewiston picked up another run in the bottom of the seventh but Tyees struck for two runs in the eighth and a pair in the ninth to pick up the marbles.

Tyees' two-eighth-inning runs came on two singles, two walks and a damaging error while the pair in the ninth were the result of one hit, one walk and a two-base error.

Marshall pitched three-hit ball until the eighth.

Tyees play at Lewiston again tonight, moving to Wenatchee Friday, under the new schedule as announced Monday.

SOLONS DRAW

The first cheerful news to come out of the WIL in many a week came by way of Salem Tuesday night.

"In just as desperate a situation as any other club in the league, Salem staged a "Save Your Senators Night" in an effort to draw some fans. To the intense relief of the club management, 4,124 fans turned out, the largest crowd of the season.

On the field, the Senators saved themselves too by coming from behind for a 7-5 victory over Tri-City.

BEARS CLOSE IN

Yakima closed ground on league-leading Vancouver Caps by scoring a 10-inning, 3-2 win over the Caps. Three straight singles, by Dick Briskey, Herm Lewis and Len Noren, sent in the winning run, giving Ted Edmunds the victory over George Nicholas.

Veteran Ray McNulty had little trouble pitching Edmonton Eskimos to a 16-3 win over the Wenatchee Chiefs.

U.S., Aussie Stars Win at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (UP) — Budge Patty, the 1950 champion, entered the third round in men's singles today at the Wimbledon tennis championships by defeating Hugh Stewart, 10-8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, in an all-American match on the centre court.

Art Larsen, 1950 U.S. champion from San Leandro, Calif., also gained the third round with a 7-5, 6-3, 6-3 victory over Narendra Nath of India.

"Wimbledon weather," which usually is so good that Britons time their vacations to coincide with the tournament, was true to form as the stars of the 67th championship began coming to grips. The competitors clashed for the final 32 berths in both men's and women's singles under a cloudless sky and with the temperature a humid 73 degrees.

Vix Seixas, defending men's singles champion from Philadelphia, gained the third round with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-1 victory over Nicolo Pietrangeli of Italy. Lew Hoad, 19-year-old Australian star, also advanced with a 6-0, 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Ignace Tloczynski of Poland.

Dovey Sparks Elks To Comeback Victory

Elks 13, Kiwanis 12

Gordon Dovey was the big star Tuesday night in Elks' 13-12 American League triumph over Oak Bay Kiwanis in Little League Park.

Behind by three runs entering the last of the sixth and last inning, Elks rallied with four runs to take the close decision.

Dovey stole major honors. He clubbed a two-run triple in the sixth to drive in the tieing run and he then stole home with the winning run in a daring dash from third.

The winners used three pitchers in the contest—Dovey, Bob Moss and Ken Gregory all seeing action. Gregory picked up the mound win and also paced the club's attack with two doubles and two singles.

The losers could only reach Ritchie Kerns and Bruce Graham for three hits, Hugh Morrison getting two singles and Larry Kerns the other hit.

WHEN THE OFFICER GOT DOUSED, HELP CAME

TORONTO (BUP)—A near-riot broke out at the end of a soccer game here last night.

Supporters of the Hungarians, trailing Ulster 2-0, became incensed when referee Ray Morgan allowed a third goal for the Ulstermen. They claimed the player was offside.

As Morgan walked off the field, the fans swarmed angrily around him. One doused him with a pail of water, then swung at him with the pail. Police called for reinforcements after an officer also received a drenching. Morgan was escorted out of the park.

Three persons were arrested.

SOFTBALL RACE TIGHT

Arrows Lead, Blank Students

Arrows 2, Students 0

For the second time in a row Arrow Furniture Monday night cut off a serious threat by Chinese Students to take over first place in the Senior A Men's Softball League.

Playing before the biggest crowd of the season at Central Park, Arrows shut out Students 2-0 and took a two-point margin over Students and Fletchers.

Arrows' infield backed up the steady six-hit pitching of Bud Ross and John Furmston with a great defensive display. The infield of Ronnie Benn at first, brother Willie Benn at second, Hal Yardley at third and Don Robinson pulled off four double plays in the first seven innings to cut short several potential rallies.

Wong lost his shutout and the decision in the second on two unearned runs. Archie Sluggett drew a life when first baseman Dave Lowe booted his smash down the right field line. Sluggett advanced to second on the miscue, went to third on a single by George Brown, and scored on a sacrifice fly by Bud Ross.

Brown moved up two bases on successive fly balls to centre, and eventually scored on a passed ball.

Students loaded the bags in the eighth, which brought on Furmston in relief of Ross.

Furmston got "Cue" Mar on a force at home, and he got a second force-out at third on Bernie Sam's ground ball for the third out of the inning.

On Thursday night at Central Park United Services can move up to a tie for second spot with a win over Mayo Lumber of Duncan. Game time is 6.45.

Short score follows:

Rainiers Get Hall

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle Rainiers announced Tuesday the purchase from the Hollywood Stars of Bob Hall, who last served a pitching stint with the local Pacific Coast League club in 1952.

Hall broke into the Coast League with Seattle in 1946. After two trips to the majors he returned to the Rainiers and was drafted after the 1952 season by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

SOFTBALL PRESIDENT SUSPENDED

An indefinite suspension has been handed down to the president of the Vancouver Major Men's Softball League, comparable to Victoria's Senior A. League.

A directive, issued by Bert Smith, secretary of the B.C. Amateur Softball Association, states: "Mr. Charles Miron, president of the Major Men's Softball League of Vancouver, has been indefinitely suspended from organized softball throughout B.C. under the jurisdiction of the British Columbia Amateur Softball Association by the BCASA Commission for conduct and actions detrimental to the game of softball."

No specific reasons were given for the suspension.

Head Blows Not Serious To Brain, Physicians Say

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Blows to the head in "well-conducted fights" apparently do not produce either punch-drunkenness or other brain damage, two New York University physicians reported today.

In co-operation with the New York state boxing commission, Dr. Harry A. Kaplan and Dr. Jefferson Browder studied the brain waves of 1,043 professional boxers. The patterns changed little over long periods, the two physicians told the American Medical Association.

If a boxer is punch-drunk, they added, the chances are that hereditary factors play a greater role in his condition than the punishment he has taken in the head.

Brain-wave records failed to show any significant change in boxers who lost their fights by knockouts, the doctors said. They did confirm, however, that some fighters are more susceptible to head blows than others. These are the types referred to as having "glass jaws." They just can't take blows in that area, but this doesn't mean they suffer greater brain damage than others.

Loss of consciousness by a boxer frequently comes from blows on parts of the body other than the head, they reported.

Satterfield Scores

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Bob Satterfield, 176½, spotted his opponent 25½ pounds and knocked out Cleveland Williams in 1.03 of the third round in a scheduled 10-rounder at the Auditorium Tuesday night.

Satterfield unleashed a murderous barrage of punches in the third to flatten Williams. The final punch was a left hook to the chin.

Four Minute Mile Leaves Coach Cold

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The breaking of the four-minute barrier in the mile run twice this spring mean absolutely nothing in the opinion of famed Dink Templeton, for many years rated as one of the nation's top track and field coaches.

Templeton, when informed that John Landy had run the mile in 3.58 said: "So what?"

"When we get down around 3.56 we'll have something in the mile run," said the loquacious Templeton.

"I think that eventually the mile will be run around 3.50. I think that would be about the limit of human endurance."

Templeton said there has been a 20-year ballyhoo about the four-minute mile that has just about ruined the rest of track and field events.

"It got so that was all the newspapers carried and all the fans talked about," he said.

"However, I was convinced that Landy was going to crack the four-minute barrier. In his previous two races, run in bad weather on slow tracks, he came very close. So I figured that as soon as everything was just right that he would do it."

For many years Templeton has claimed that milers should run the first half of a mile run in around 1.56, rather than the two minutes or more that most milers set. Landy came close to this with 1.57.

It has been Templeton's contention for years that all that was needed for the four-minute mile was the incentive.

"Twenty years ago I wrote an article in which I said that all that was needed to get a four-minute mile was to have someone offer a purse of $25,000," Templeton recalled. "We would have had a four-minute mile a long time ago if we had had an incentive like that.

"But when Bannister broke the four-minute barrier, it was to be expected that others would do it, too—now that they knew it could be done.

"I think America's Wes Santee would break the barrier easily if the Marines would allow him to run and he had the proper incentive.

"In fact, with every condition right, I think that Santee could do a 3.56."

Investigation Proves Fraud in Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP) — The president of City College of New York Monday verified as "substantially accurate" published reports that his secret two-year probe had revealed more than a dozen basketball players on coach Nat Holman's CCNY teams were admitted to the school by fraud.

"The story is substantially accurate in its facts," said Dr. Buell C. Gallagher in commenting on a New York World-Telegram and Sun story. "But most of the facts have been known for some time."

The newspaper reported high school records were forged deliberately to allow unqualified athletes to enroll and one academic official received $1,000 a year to "meet the needs of boys with plenty of basketball talent but with a minimum of brains."

Dr. Gallagher said: "Since the basketball scandal, many changes have been instituted that have had the effect of de-emphasizing inter-collegiate athletics at City College. . . .

"If the purpose of the series of stories is to credit CCNY for cleaning up after a previous scandal, that intention might be made more clear."

BIG HOUSEKEEPING JOB NEEDS MAN

Top Janitor at 'The Buildings' Employs 2 Women But 83 Men

By PETE LOUDON

The biggest housekeeping job in British Columbia is done by a man. Victoria's Allen Lord, whose everyday task is the cleaning of a floor area equivalent to 600 average modern homes.

He is chief janitor of the Parliament Buildings.

Even among his 85 helpers, there are only two women, or janitresses, who clean the women's washrooms. The remainder are men, war veterans according to custom, day and night foremen, 65 janitors, four window cleaners, seven watchmen and a number of temporary help.

Chief Janitor Lord is a veteran also. At 41, he looks back on overseas aircrew service in World War II and later was public works bridgeman at Langford. After an on-the-job back injury he moved to the Legislative Buildings in 1948.

Many of his crew have left other careers due to physical impairment. There are ex-teachers and ex-RCMP officers pushing brooms in the "Buildings." The services of several are contracted to the government by the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires.

"SPLIT PERSONALITIES"

Some pour their hearts into shining brass by day and by night delve into more complex vocations. There is a radio and TV technician who runs his own business "outside" and a jeweler who spends his off-hours repairing watches and costume gew-gaws for fellow sweepers and dusters.

One janitor is a well-known organist in a large city church. Another is a bass violinist in Victori Symphony Orchestra. None of them have ulcers. Simple tasks provide their living; technical pursuits give them a casual pleasure.

Once there was great rivalry between night and day staffs. A day foreman, an avid gardener, fanned it by bringing in each fall a middling-sized carrot or potato. Soon a nightman would leave a bigger one in the janitor office. The war wouldn't end until late harvest was over and the place cluttered with spuds as big as a human head and cabbages one man could barely get his arms around.

There isn't much time for levity on the job though, not when each shift has two-and-a half tons of wastepaper to collect, 588,000 square feet of floors to tend. Those floors wear out 72 scrub brushes, 60 brooms each year.

FIGURES HIGH

They are washed with 1,000 gallons of floor soap annually and more than half a ton of powdered soap is used on paintwork and tile, as well as 500 pounds of scouring powder, 280 gallons of bleach.

A polished surface calls for 225 gallons of wax cleaner and nearly 700 gallons of liquid wax.

A nightwatchman punched his clocks one night with a measuring device strapped to his leg. When it was found he covered seven miles his route was reduced.

Miles of broomwork is done in a sub-basement in which a tall man can't stand erect and daylight never penetrates.

Garlands of cobwebs must be cleared and mountains of stored records which date back to B.C.'s earliest administrations must be examined for dampness. In these narrow tunnels, brooms often bump against collectors' items such as two desks which were placed in the old legislative chambers in 1859.

These tunnels give access to steam and water pipes. They connect below street level with the Douglas Building and wind back and forth beneath the lawns where extensive sprinkler systems are installed.

SELECTIVE RATS

Rats and mice are sometimes problems in the sub-basement. City ratcatchers cleaned out the rodents last year but not before they had chewed through five years' publications of one provincial newspaper. Whether the rats didn't like the editorial policy of the sheet or found the newsprint especially tasty is not known. But other newspapers piled alongside were untouched.

Janitors who often work in close contact with B.C.'s great and near great often become personally acquainted and must learn to be tactful. Minor embarrassments occur to cabinet ministers as well as to ordinary people. When a janitor helps out at such a time, he is expected to take it in his stride and say nothing.

The $218-a-month janitor is often a trusted friend to the member who earns $3,000 a session and operates a private business or profession as well. Accordingly, it is sometimes a shock to visitors from more class-conscious countries to see janitors chatting with legislators in the parliamentary corridors. But it happens every day.

SPOKE TOO LOUD

The mop and bucket tradesmen do tell amusing tales on one another, if not on the members. They still laugh about the time a man was sent to dust the sculptured female nudes which lean langorously about the high cornices in the legislative chambers.

He was fascinated by the contours of one "lady" who was at that time painted in lifelike hues. He couldn't help remarking on the finer points of her structure to his mate, and in rather plain terms. He went into hiding for days after looking down to see a party of grinning tourists at the doorway of the chamber—which has almost perfect acoustics.

People who lose things, cranks and souvenir hunters are another headache for Mr. Lord. Seldom a day but some lost item arrives on his desk. Most are worthless but there have been diamond rings, watches. Finding owners is a time consuming chore.

CRANKS NABBED

Cranks are usually apprehended before they can get into trouble. But Mr. Lord still winces when mention is made of the lady who not long ago hurled a volley of pipe fittings and cold chisels through a plate glass window in the treasury department to draw attention to her "rights."

The chief janitor says he has stopped buying ash trays. So many went astray during his first year in office that now he saves the ends of spools that photographic film is wound on. They serve in many of the offices now.

Allen Lord looks over lost articles found.

Wismer Wins Another Round in Libel Suit

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Court of Appeal Tuesday dismissed the appeal of Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's magazine, from an order striking out his defense to the libel action of Gordon S. Wismer.

Mr. Wismer, former attorney-general of B.C., is seeking unstated damages from Fraser and Maclean Hunter Publishing Co., Ltd., for libel as a result of an article published in the Feb. 15, 1952, edition of the magazine entitled "B.C. Coalition Commits Suicide."

Tuesday's ruling was the latest development in the involved legal case that has not yet come to trial.

Mr. Fraser was appealing a decision of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane of the B.C. Supreme Court striking out his defense arguments contending that the case should not go before the courts.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane based his decision on the grounds Mr. Fraser had refused to comply with a Supreme Court order that he disclose the sources of information on which he based his article.

STATISTICS SHOW CITY STILL GROWS

May Construction Nudged 1943 Total

City of Victoria building permits in May this year were almost equal to the building total for the whole of 1943 (a war year) figures.

Figures released by City Hall today showed the total of permits issued last month was $710,504. Total building in all of 1943 was only $742,919.

A 10-year building permit review illustrates the city's continued growth. Annual construction total jumped from $742,919 in 1943 to $7,095,882 in 1953.

In 1943, 94 residence were built, valued at $271,765, while last year 1,142 were built at a cost of $2,456,361.

And in 1943 five warehouses and 12 factories cost $13,700 and $57,950, respectively, compared with commercial construction 10 years later of $2,591,958 for 492 projects. On top of this latter figure were an additional 495 miscellaneous buildings valued at $2,047,563.

41 COMMERCIAL JOBS

Last month City Hall issued 10 residential permits valued at $147,500; 41 commercial permits valued at $416,428 and 105 miscellaneous permits for $146,576.

At the latest count, there were more than 16,000 occupied dwellings in Victoria proper, up from 9,824 dwellings in 1931 and 11,455 in 1941.

Total for the metropolitan area today is in excess of 32,000 dwellings, of which Esquimalt accounts for approximately 2,300 Saanich for 9,000; Central Saanich for 700 and Oak Bay for 4,000.

SAANICH, OAK BAY

Value of residential construction in Saanich last month was $268,000, down slightly from the previous two months but equal to an approximate monthly average for the past year. Oak Bay permits for May totaled $238,725 for 29 new residences. Permits in Oak Bay this year for total construction were valued at $890,842 for 135 structures, which include 62 houses for $773,000.

Over-all permit value in Oak Bay this year is up from $865,202 compared with 1953. Then 12 houses were built for $136,000 during the month; 59 from Jan. 1 to the end of May, 1953, for $739,700, and 35 permits for May itself valued at $175,620.

MARKETS SUMMARY

Weakness In Industrials Nips Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Weak industrials led the stock market lower in light trading toward today's close.

Weak industrial groups were papers, utilities, steels, agricultures, foods, liquors, refining oils, textiles and manufacturers.

Western oils lost but Calgary & Edmonton countered the lower trend with a 50-cent climb.

Base metals were weak in both seniors and juniors.

Senior golds remained firm but juniors and holding companies were well down. Prospects were slightly weaker. Uraniums were lower.

Spotty Strength Modifies Decline In Wall St. List

NEW YORK (AP)—A decline in the stock market today was modified greatly by strength in a number of areas in the late afternoon.

Gains and losses generally spread over a range extending not more than one or two points either way.

Canadian stocks were mixed. Hiram Walker fell ⅞, Dome Mines eased ⅛ and Canadian Pacific gained ⅛.

Lower Canadian issues on the American stock exchange included Royalite Oil, off ¼, and Lake Shore, off ⅛.

Softness Rules Lower Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—A weaker tone ruled the stock market in quiet trading today.

Walker posted a 1½-point loss and Consolidated Smelters was one point easier.

Senior metals, banks and senior oils showed a mixed pattern. The remainder of the industrial market drifted into softer territory.

Mines moved to lower ground. Beaucage was off 30 cents. Pacific Petroleum gained 25 cents in an otherwise trendless western oil section.

Gas Shares Steady

National Exploration hung around 51 cents while 12,500 shares changed hands during the forenoon session on Vancouver stock exchange. Noon quotation was 51-52.

Van-Tor Exploration slipped a penny from its high of 26 on sales totaling 7,500 shares. Noon quotation was 25 bid.

Trading 5,500 shares, Yankee Princess advanced a penny to 48 cents and had a noon quotation of 48-50.

Mid-West Gas remained fairly steady at 1.70 as 3,500 shares were sold. Noon quotation was 1.66-1.70.

Studebaker, Packard Unchanged in Canada

HAMILTON (CP)—D. C. Gaskin, president and general manager of the Studebaker Corporation of Canada, said Tuesday that despite the decision of United States directors of Studebaker and the Packard Motor Company to merge, Canadian operations will continue as at present.

He was commenting on an announcement from New York of the merger, which has yet to be ratified by a stockholders' meeting, possibly in August.

Mr. Gaskin said in a letter to dealers that Studebaker and Packard will continue to be operated by separate factory sales organizations, although dual francises will be possible.

Ambitious Undertakings Combat Dip In Employment in Primary Industries

HALIFAX (CP)—The martime provinces are stirring in the construction and development fields to an extent greater than any since the Second World War and the tempo is helping to combat unemployment in the old-established industries.

Commercial mainstays like the apple and coal industries of Nova Scotia are wrestling with production and marketing problems but the advent of their ills has coincided largely with ambitious undertaking in other lines.

Latest items:

Five construction companies will share in a $2,500,000 government contract for clearing 10,000 acres of the new Camp Gage town military training site in south-central New Brunswick. Hundreds will be employed in the project which will occupy several months.

Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., has announced it will start a $3,000,000 addition to its Saint John, N.B., plant shortly, probably in the fall. Tenders will be called soon.

TAKE UP SLACK

A new federal building will be started in Sydney. The job will absorb many persons thrown out of work by slowdowns in the steel and coal industries which, because they are so vital to highly industrialized Cape Breton Island, have affected other businesses.

Officials of the town of Shediac, N.B., are optimistic over the prospects of the federal government dredging the Point du Chene harbor entrance to make it available to ocean-going shipping. The start of that development would employ hundreds of persons in the actual dredging and in phases of it.

The National Gypsum Co. is building a $6,000,000 plant at Shubanacadie, N.S., 30 miles from Halifax. A current expansion of dock-landing facilities at Dartmouth, N.S., will cost about $1,500,000.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—A dull session saw prices holding to a narrow range today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included United Kingdom 385,000 bushels, Germany 370,000, Malta 190,000, Norway 65,000 and Belgium 55,000.

Lakehead prices for top grades of Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

NOTHING 'FUNNY' ABOUT IT

New Canadian Currency Sets Standards in Art, Efficiency

By PETE LOUDON

A national guessing game will probably sweep Canada when new currency begins to appear in banks and pocketbooks this fall.

It might be called, "Where's the Scene on the Back of the Bill?"

The game got underway in Victoria this week when two officials of the Bank of Canada visited The Times with specimen copies of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100 and $1,000 bills.

The crisp new bank notes were mounted in a two-sided clear plastic frame. H. Richardson watched the money in the frame and Gordon Perry watched Mr. Richardson.

Showing the big ones to reporters is strictly for curiosity, but the pair are making a six-week tour of Canada to arrange distribution of the new money through provincial agencies of the Bank of Canada.

DESIGNS PRAISED

The two Ottawa moneymen drew a crowd when they showed their collection: and there were words of praise for the new design on the front of the bills.

It was pointed out that the portrait of the Queen is true to life and the viewers liked the fact that the royal head had been moved to the right side of the bill. They admired the clean, modern type faces and the "more Canadian" look.

But the heartiest gasps came when the reverse side of the bills were shown. Instead of eight mythological godlike figures with winged hats and sceptres and not much modesty there are eight vivid pictures of Canada.

"Why that's Vancouver Island . . . there's where I grew up on the Prairie . . . there's that little Gaspe town we drove through last year . . . there's Chimney Mountain . . ."—everyone started playing the game immediately.

LIKE CINEMASCOPE

The scenes aren't titled. They run right across the bill, with all the splendor of the newest Hollywood epic on a wide-vision screen. Each has been so carefully chosen that there are probably a hundred spots in Canada almost identical in beauty of line and contour—almost but not quite. Each scene is actual. The federal people aren't saying where the beauty spots are. But it's a sure thing each is Canada at its best.

The "Back-Easters" are maintaining a grim government silence about the names of the designers of the new bills too. Perhaps it's a security measure.

But it is ironic that the designers (seven or eight collaborated apparently), who will have samples of their talent in every home and purse, who will, in fact, have the most loving owners in the history of Canadian art, must remain anonymous.

SHARPER SHADES

Even the colors of the new bills are attractive. With the exception of the five, the hues resemble those of previous issues. They must, in order to avoid expensive mix-ups until we become used to them. But the shades are sharper and are in fact a fine intermixture of two hues.

In the past it was found that persons not too color wary would mistake the blue five for the greenback one.

So the blue of the five has been deepened.

The intermixture of colors on all the bills can only be discerned by a magnifying glass when different colored lines can be seen crossing under the top pattern. This too is a security measure.

In fact, security, utility and economy of production have been the ruling factors in the new designs. "If in the course of providing those features we have made them more attractive, then that is an added advantage," say the dollar-men.

TOUGH ON FAKERS

The elimination of ornament and color intermixture, linked with a new dry-printing process under terrific pressure, is expected to make counterfeiting almost impossible. Other security features have been built in, but will not be disclosed.

The new dry-printing (bills used to be printed while the paper was wet to permit inks to seep in) produces a design which appears almost embossed. The lettering can be felt and tests are being conducted with blind Braille-readers. It is felt that they may be able to tell denominations by feel, or failing that, they will at least be able to tell a good bill from a bad one.

It will be easier for a casual user to detect differences in the new bills now that many of the ornate figures are removed.

NO WRINKLED FACE

As for utility, that is why the sovereign's head will now be on the right. The likeness is less apt to wear than if it were back in the centre position where people fold money. Worn bills grow faded and fuzzy and non-genuine pictures of the queen would be harder to detect. The bills will not have to be recalled so often.

Average life of $1 and $2 bills is just 10 months. A $5 bill usually does not have to be recalled and burned for 15 months and the larger denominations live longer in ratio. The new issues are expected to wear better.

First new bills will appear in local banks sometime after September. They will be issued as the older bills are returned to the Bank of Canada for burning. Officials say it will be a long time before the exchange is complete.

Some collectors who wish to obtain low serial number bills have already made requests and they have been filed as they arrived at Ottawa pending the first dollar day.

Changing a country's currency takes a long time. (Solon Low take note.) This job began in 1952. Two years later the first monetary "trooping of the Queen's Colors" is taking place and still the complete changeover is yet a long way off.

"The existence of substantial stocks of notes (old style) makes it too expensive to contemplate withdrawing the entire current issue without regard to its servicability," say the canny Ottawa men.

"We've got to use up our old ones first."

NIX ON PIX

This space is where pictures of the new bills should be. But the Bank of Canada quoted the Criminal Code of Canada with regard to pictures of currency when it showed its samples. No pictures are allowed. But featured on the $1 is a prairie, on the $2 a village by a river, the $5 swirling rapids, the $10 a mountain, the $20 a forest, the $50 a seashore, the $100 a coastal scene and the $1,000 a rural scene with a stream and a covered bridge.

FLIN FLON SAYS THANKS TO POLICEMAN

FLIN FLON, Man. (BUP) —A policeman's lot may not be a happy one, but in Flin Flon they go out of their way to be obliging anyway.

Staff Sergeant N. J. Calverley, the officer in charge here, was due to receive a vote of public appreciation from the town council today. When a sudden storm hit last week, Calverley abandoned his job of checking parking meters on the main street and made a quick trip the full length of the street to turn up windows on parked cars.

Packinghouse Union Seeks Uniform Scale

MONTREAL (CP) — A spokesman for the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO-CCL, says the union will seek equal wages for its members in packing houses across Canada in 1954 contract negotiations.

The union, which represents 19,000 workers employed in plants of Canada Packers, the Swift Canadian Company and the Burns Company of Calgary, is due to open contract talks with the companies shortly. The present contract expires July 31.

140 British, Irish Teachers for Sask.

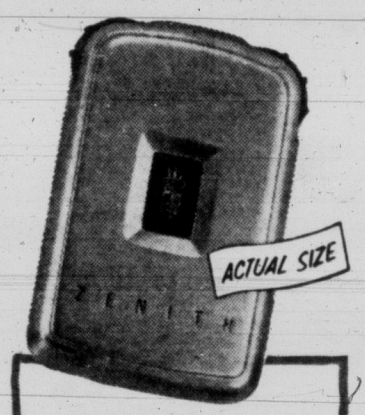

REGINA (BUP) — W. S. Lloyd, Saskatchewan minister of education, announced Tuesday that contracts have been signed to bring 140 British and Irish teachers to the province this summer.

Lloyd said some 525 teachers in England and Ireland applied for positions in Saskatchewan after reading advertisements placed in overseas papers by the Saskatchewan School Trustees' Association.

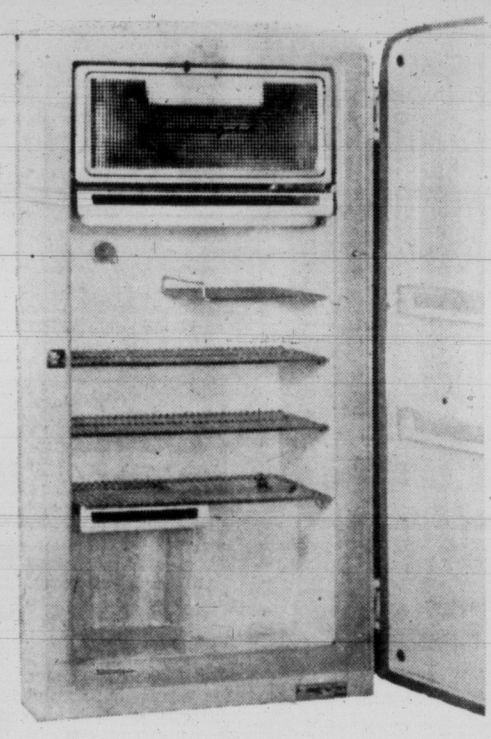

The teachers will start arriving within the next two months.

A pocket-sized dentist's drill, resembling an aluminum ballpoint pen, has been worked out to help dentists fill soldier's teeth on the battleline. Powered by a built-in motor, the gadget goes into action when clipped to the terminals of a jeep's battery.

Final Public Inspection Sunday Of Richmond Road 'Trend House'

Victoria's Trend House has been inspected by 32,400 since its opening, early in April.

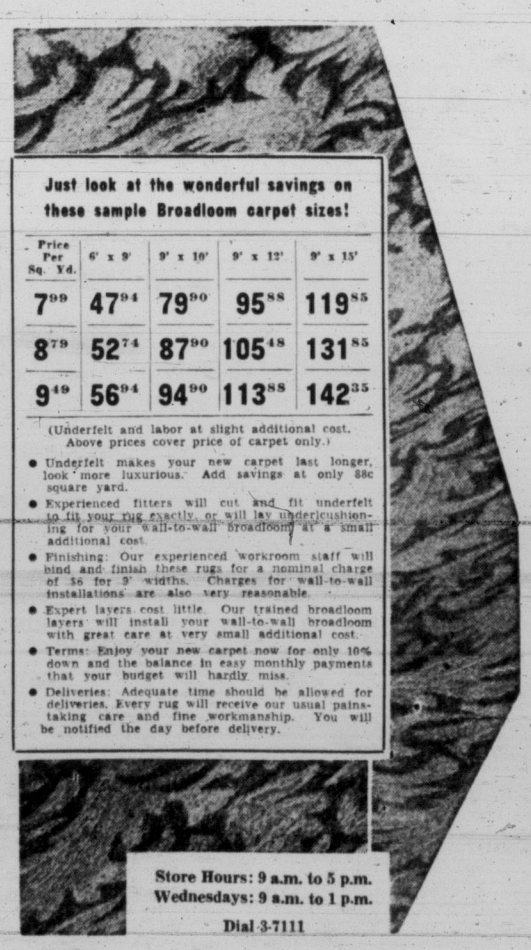

The house, on Richmond Road at Mayfair Drive, will remain open for public inspection until Sunday evening. G. C. Edgett, promotion director of B.C. Coast Woods Trade Extension Bureau, Vancouver, said today it was expected attendance would exceed the 35,000 mark by the time the last visitor goes through.

Visiting hours are from three to nine. Mrs. Gwen Cash, owner, will move in and take up residence next week.

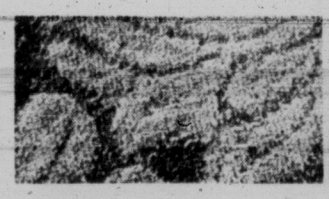

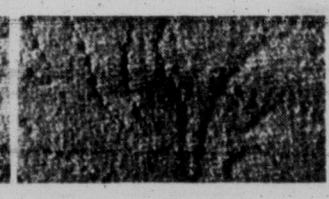

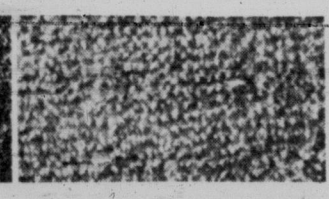

The Victoria Trend House is one of 10 show homes erected across Canada to display western woods. The Victoria home was the first to open.

"It drew immediate public response on Vancouver Island, and publicity nationwide," Mr. Edgett said. "Later, as the campaign moved eastward, we were continuously queried about the Victoria Trend House."

An automobile muffler, now available as a replacement unit, muffles engine noise with strands of chopped glass fibres. The glass threads, however, permit exhaust gases to follow a "straight-through" path, which is said to reduce back pressure on the engine and yield a horsepower increase.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Things are happening too fast for me, these days.

First there is a great Hurrah because Bannister—swoosh—breaks the four-minute mile.

Then there is another great Hurrah because Landy—swooshshwoosh—breaks the four-minute mile even more.

All I am waiting to hear now is that someone has broken the 60-second minute, doing it in 59.30.

But don't count on me. I doubt if I have the strength to break a four-minute egg.

The reason I am feeling so weak is, I have been trying to figure out my entry in the Florence Chadwick-Solarium sweepstakes for a thousand bucks.

(I know people who work for The Times aren't allowed to enter, but the city editor has assured me I don't work for The Times).

As is well known to all, Miss Chadwick plans to cross from Victoria to Port Angeles by immersing herself in the waters of Juan de Fuca Strait, flailing her arms and legs, and eventually emerging on the other shore.

(If I may interrupt myself, she must be very anxious to get away from Victoria. It would be much more comfortable to travel either CPR or Black Ball).

(If I may interrupt my interruption, why does Miss Chadwick come here in the first place if she's so anxious to get back to the United States? We Victorians like people to come here and really settle down, not go wandering abroad in a pair of goggles and a layer of grease. Gad, ma'am, what are you about?)

If you will kindly interrupt me from interrupting myself, I will explain why figuring out Miss Chadwick's strait-crossing time has made me so weak.

I had no trouble at all interpreting the analyses of tides, water temperatures, wind conditions, and the number of grapefruit rinds she is likely to encounter.

It was a simple algebraic equation, thus: let x equal time; t equals tide; W.T. water temperature, WC wind condition, and g. grapefruit encountered en route.

Thus we set out the equation:

$$\frac{t(WT+WC)}{g} \text{ equals } x.$$

And from there in, any schoolboy can figure the answer.

But I guess the trouble is, I am not any schoolboy.

I am hung up on a vital problem. Miss Chadwick will swim from B.C.'s Daylight Saving Time to Washington State's Standard Time.

So I don't know whether x equals fast time or slow time.

Are there any schoolboys in the house who can put me strait on this?

'Turn on the Water; We're Ready'

Joan Wills, 655 Grenville, and Brian Reed, 651 Grenville, both five, are patiently waiting opening of almost-finished wading pool in Esquimalt's Memorial Park. Esquimalt Lions donated pool and municipality will maintain it. Big "Kiddies' Day" opening is slated for about July 17. Lions will rent a circus-style merry-go-round, hand out pop and ice cream. There will be a parade of tiny bathing beauties, too, and a band. Joan and Brian have shoes off already. (Times photo.)

Strike Threatens Children's Fun

Playparks Out of Action Until Workers Return

Summer playground activities may be curtailed in Victoria because of the civic outside workers' strike, now in its seventh day.

Parks administrator Herb Warren said today that if the strike continues into next week it will be impossible to provide the various play groups with the equipment they require.

The playground season is set to begin a week from today, June 30.

Youngsters throughout the Greater Victoria school system begin their summer holidays Thursday.

Wading pools at Beacon Hill and Central Parks, always popular with the smaller children once school is out, are without water and will not be filled until the strike ends.

The parks department is concerned about the danger of thievery since the parks are not under close scrutiny.

The superintendent of Beacon Hill Park reports theft already of iris, geranium and azalea plants.

WICKS STILL SILENT

Meanwhile city council is still awaiting word from Labor Minister Lyle Wicks on its query as to whether the outside workers' strike is legal under the new government labor act.

Council held hopes last week that the minister would rule the strike illegal. The mayor and aldermen interviewed Mr. Wicks last Thursday, and hoped for an immediate pronouncement. Instead, he reserved judgment, saying he would give the question consideration. He has made no reply as yet.

City council is scheduled to meet Thursday afternoon at 2 for a regular meeting and the strike question is certain to be raised.

NO SETTLEMENT MOVE

So far there has been no move by either side to arrange meetings to consider settlement. When negotiations broke down last Wednesday, the two sides were two cents apart on determining an hourly wage schedule. Council offered a five-cent raise and the union asked for seven.

Council's contention is that since the old labor act was repealed at one minute after noon on Wednesday, June 16, the union was obliged to act under rules laid down in the new act, including the rule with respect to giving prior notice of a strike.

The union voted in the afternoon that day on the city's final offer and called the strike when the vote was 126 to 103 against acceptance. Verbal notice was given the city in the middle of the afternoon. The mayor has complained because he was not given notice in writing.

There were no new developments on the strike scene today. Strikers at the four picket stations reported "all quiet."

F-W SHIP HERE TO LIFT LUMBER

Furness-Withy Line's TSS Pacific Reliance berthed at Ogden Point today to discharge about 200 tons of general cargo from U.K. and California ports.

The passenger-freighter combination will also take a small deckload of lumber here for her return voyage.

King Bros. Ltd. are agents in Victoria.

All-Time Record By Ogden Point Lumber Loading

100 Ships Handled In 5-Month Period

Lumber shipments out of Ogden Point for foreign markets for the first five months of 1954 ran nearly 7,000,000 feet higher than in 1953, which set an all-time high for shipments out of this port, it was learned today.

Figures compiled by R. A. Bell, Canadian National Railways transportation assistant here, show that from January through May this year, 100 ships lifted a total of 64,964,764 board feet of lumber. This compares with the 1954 record of 103 ships lifting a total of 58,200,399 feet.

Exact increase of this year over last is 6,764,365 feet.

Shipping men feel confident the pace will continue, and that 1954 will set a new all-time record for lumber shipments.

In March, 18,330,972 feet were lifted by 27 ships to set a record for a single month. January was lowest, with 11 ships taking 5,844,072 feet. February 20 ships took 12,597,485 feet; April, 21 ships, 14,916,603 feet; May, 13,275,632 feet.

Lumber ships loading at The Point today are Ss. Waikawa, Sunmont and Cape Clear. Tss. Pacific Reliance, a general cargo ship, is also taking a small deckload.

STRIKEBOUND CITY CEMETERY IN USE TODAY

First burial at Ross Bay Cemetery to take place since the start of the outside civic workers' strike was scheduled to take place this afternoon.

Arrangements were made Tuesday between officers of the striking union and City Manager Cecil Wyatt for grave-digging services. Today's burial was a city welfare case, awaiting interment since last Friday. Sands Mortuary was in charge.

Arrangements were made also for another burial on Friday.

School Bond Sale Sets New Net-Cost Mark

The B.C. government has sold $7,000,000 of province-backed 3¼% bonds for school construction at $98.07, for the lowest net interest rate since the block-selling policy was put into effect.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced Tuesday that a syndicate comprised of Mills, Spence & Co., Ltd., Bank of Montreal, Bell, Gouinlock & Co., Ltd., and McLeod, Weir & Co., Ltd., submitted the highest bid on the school bonds, which are for a record 54 school districts.

Net interest cost to the issuer is 3.495 per cent. A similar issue of 4¼ per cent bonds sold in August, 1953, cost the seller a net 4.317 per cent. An issue of $4,000,000 4¼ per cent bonds sold at 4.226 per cent net in November. Net cost was 3.945 per cent on an issue sold in February this year.

The latest issue represents the lowest net cost to the seller yet, and in the words of Premier Bennett: "Backing school district bonds 100 per cent with the provincial credit is now bearing fruit.

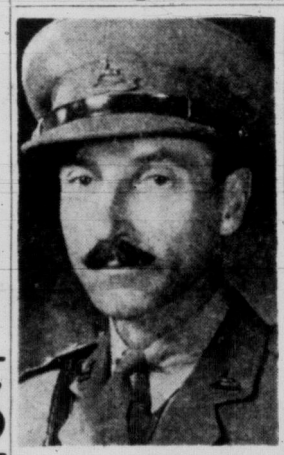

"Under the old system, where each district sold its own bonds, rich districts had a difficult time borrowing money, and a poor district could hardly sell bonds at all," he said.

Award Rejected By Glassworkers

Victoria and Vancouver glassworkers of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, Local 1163 (AFL-TLC) have rejected a conciliation board award for a new contract, it was reported today.

Don Bushell, business agent for the local, reported that the Labor Relations Board has been notified of the rejection. The recommendation of the board was that the workers receive an increase in pay of five cents an hour across the board.

Twenty-four Victoria workers are involved and 160 in Vancouver area.

A VICTORIA MAN, Col. H. A. Phillips, 43, will return from Germany to take over as chairman of the army establishment committee at Ottawa headquarters, it was reported today.

Col. Phillips was born in India. He was a senior staff officer with the First Canadian Infantry Division in Italy and Northwest Europe in the Second World War and held several posts in Canada before being assigned to Europe for duty with the 27th Canadian Brigade.

Saanich Man Charged Under Post Office Act

Accused of Diverting P.O. Funds, Also of Making False Entries

A charge of conversion and theft of public monies and another of making false entries while operating a sub-post office in Saanich was laid today against Carl V. Mackie, 1406 Ryan.

He is proprietor of Mackie's, where the sub-post office was located. It is alleged he diverted to his own use $246.53 on Aug. 21, 1953. The charge of false entries is dated May 8, 1953.

He was remanded without plea to July 2 by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court.

Complainant in both charges is Victoria Postmaster R. G. Reid. The first charge is a violation of the Post Office Act and the second a violation of the Financial Administration Act.

Mackie is at present free on $2,000 bail. He is represented by D. M. Stevens.

STORE BOOTH BUSY

B.E.G. Interest Spurred Here By Track Duel

Speculation that further fractions might be sheared from world's all-time record for the one-mile race at British Empire Games in Vancouver July 30 to August 7, is busying B.E.G. booth workers here.

Interest in Empire sports has overflowed the track and field fraternity and people of all ages and walks of life are asking for applications for tickets.

The booth, operated in Eaton's home furnishings department by the Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League, hands out the application forms, general information on the big meet and sells B.E.G. souvenirs. Profits go to the sick and crippled children's hospital.

People who a month ago didn't know who John Landy was are impatient to know whether he can protect his three minute and 58 second record for Australia.

Contenders are Roger Bannister of England, whose best mark is 1.4 seconds behind Landy's and the fleet-footed New Zealander, Murray Halberg.

All tickets are sold from Vancouver by mail.

Cost of the frame and stucco building is listed at $13,650. Foundation work is under way with day labor employed. Patrick Birley is architect.

At cost of $23,000, improvements are being made to the B.C. Cement Co.'s office building at 500 Fort. Parfitt Construction Co. Ltd. is the general contractors. Planning was done by architect Charles Craig.

Farmer Construction Ltd. is building a new service station for Imperial Co. Ltd. at Douglas and Queens, costing $20,000.

Finger Cut Off In Mill Mishap

An accident at Manning Timber Company mill this morning cost Douglas Blackstock, 34, 1523 Derby Road, his little finger when his hand was caught in a conveyer. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital and was undergoing surgery at press time. His hand was badly mangled.

He is a brother of Police Chief John Blackstock.

PGE Officials Screen Tenders For New Bridge

Pacific Great Eastern Railway engineers today started examination of tenders for construction of a bridge to span the Capilano River on the line's southern extension route.

Tenders were opened Tuesday, and showed bids ranging from $74,315 to $154,110 for the bridge's sub-structure entered by 14 B.C. construction firms.

Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd and former finance minister Einar Gunderson, both PGE directors and members of a special construction committee, said examination of the tenders will take until the end of the week.

Tenders for the first seven miles of the 40-mile extension, which will take the PGE from Squamish to North Vancouver, will be called by the end of this month, Mr. Gunderson said.

The two committee members also said that a replacement for construction engineer David Livingston, who quit his job because of "interference" recently, will be appointed shortly from within the existing PGE engineering staff.

Sentence Awaits Probation Report

Sentence was delayed for Harry Dickenson, Victoria, who pleaded guilty in city police court today to taking a car without the owner's consent.

Magistrate H. C. Hall remanded the accused to Monday pending completion of a probation report.

Dickenson was arrested by RCMP officers near Ladysmith where he ditched a car which had disappeared earlier from 2812 Irma. Owner is Lieut. G. Grivel.

Dickenson told the court that he is not too clear on the events of the evening. Magistrate Hall promised him a chance to explain himself when his case comes up again.

Coroner's Jury To Investigate Gas Death Case

A coroner's jury will investigate the death of an elderly woman who was found Tuesday in a gas-filled room at 1165 Fort, it was announced today.

Inquest will be at Sands Mortuary Friday at 10 a.m.

Police have identified the deceased as Mrs. Matilda E. MacDonald, about 80.

Little is known about the dead woman except that she lived alone in the small flat where she died after apparently accidentally opening a valve on her gas range.

Members of her family were expected later today to complete final arrangements.

B.C. Electric officials completed examination of the gas appliance in the apartment on Tuesday and advised police it is in perfect working order.

It was a gas company worker who discovered the tragedy. The woman had apparently been dead about 12 hours. Neighbors had smelled gas and advised the workman who was employed elsewhere in the building. Police were called when a forced window revealed the room full of gas.

'Compare Highway Costs,' Premier Challenges Laing

Premier W. A. C. Bennett challenged Liberal Leader Arthur Laing today to "compare highways costs under the Socreds with what they were under the former governments."

The premier, answering a charge made Tuesday by Mr. Laing that Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi is guilty of "scandalous abuse of position and power," said: "There are no partisan politics in our highway program."

"Mr. Laing apparently thinks the same conditions exist now that may have existed under the Liberal government," he said. "The figures speak for themselves.

"I would be glad to have comparisons made with the cost of highways under the Social Credit government and the former government at any time," said the premier.

Mr. Laing said "There is more politics in public works now than for the past 20 years."

ASK The TIMES

Q.—My little white kitten, several weeks old, has one blue and one green eye. Is this a frequent occurrence in cats of various colors? Is the condition seen in other quadrupeds?

—G. L.

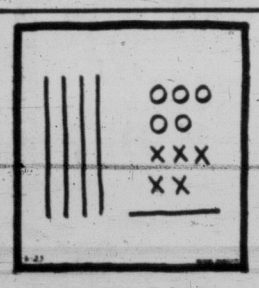

A.—In cats, it has been observed that condition usually, if not always, occurs in animals that are light in color. Your kitten, as you say, is white. It is a condition that occurs also in other animals, including dogs and horses, and most people have seen a person with eyes of different colors. A number of years ago a well-known movie actress was in that limited class. The condition is known to derive from heredity.

Q.—What is the origin of the name of Windermere Lake in the Kootenay district?—L. T.

A.—That body of water, nine miles in length, was named in 1883 after Windermere in England.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrum.

My Uncle Frank was always a whiz at Tic-Tac-Toe. He had a very ingenious mind. Back in the hills of West Virginia where we lived there wasn't a regular telephone service and one summer Uncle Frank invented a telephone. He just took a coffee can and fastened a piece of wire to the center of it, then strung the wire about 400 yards down the creek to the Still and fastened another coffee can to Aunt Margaret at the house he'd pull the wire tight and speak in a normal voice—not loud or anything—and Aunt Margaret would answer the same way. It worked fine except for one detail. They couldn't hear each other.

"TIC-TAC-TOE, PA!"

Little Boy Hurt In Car Collision

Knocked down by a passing car when he ran on Esquimalt Road from between parked cars Tuesday afternoon, four-year-old Michael Henson, 1238 Esquimalt Road, is in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Police said the child ran in front of a car driven by Kenneth Fraser, 737 McClure. He suffered injuries to his right leg and side. The accident occurred near Admirals Road intersection at 4:30 p.m.

TODAY'S GARDEN HINT — By JACK BEASTALL

Green Lends Enchantment to Garden Vista

What causes us to remark on the beauty of a distant hill?

What is the attraction which compels us to admire the rows of trees and shrubs in a nursery?

Primarily, I think it is the multitude of shades and tints of green and incomparable manner in which they all bend into a harmonious mass so pleasing to the eye.

Undoubtedly, the various shapes have some bearing—possibly more for the irregularity of the color splashes which they present than for the beauty of form.

We gardeners could well study the distant view, analyzing and separating its color masses, later to duplicate in our gardens to some degree the artistry of nature.

Too often we use three or four specimen evergreens, stiffly erect, separate, and all the same color, when a group of four, their different shades blending, would be more arresting.

We choose our shrubs usually for time of bloom, for color or form of flower, and give little thought to the color mass their foliage will make when the bloom has gone.

When we consider all the shades of green available in plant material, with variegated and golden forms for accent, and all the illustrations of superb blending provided by nature we, who use her colors to paint our gardens, should be capable of producing more harmonious, pleasing and restful pictures.

Gadget Costing Pennies Marks Hemline in Seconds

By PENNY SAVER

A job that usually takes about half an hour can be now done in 60 seconds! Yep, it takes you just one minute to mark the hemline of a skirt, when you use the hemline marker that sprays powdered chalk in a straight line around the bottom.

You can do the job by yourself with absolutely no assistance, and know when you've finished that your skirt hangs perfectly.

A little glass bottle is attached to the wooden measuring stick. Set the bottle at the point which marks the skirt length you desire, fill the bottle with any kind of greaseless chalk (even talcum will do), then, standing erect, squeeze the bulb which is attached to the chalk jar and the chalk will spray out on the skirt. Turn around as you squeeze and when you've completed a circle you'll see that your skirt is marked off just the way you want it.

Here's the punch line. Such a marker costs you only 99 cents. The markers are on sale right now, so get yours while you can.

Looks a little like summer's here, after all. What with the sunshine we're hoping to have and the traveling you're planning to do, I know that right now you are most interested in things to take with you on vacation. The latest is a sun hat that packs flat, then snaps into shape, when you want to wear it. It's an adorable sun-bonnet-sue style that's flattering to any face and serves as excellent protection from burning rays of the sun. Comes in attractive, bright colors and can be wiped clean in a jiffy with the touch of a damp cloth. Price is 98 cents.

For summer are white nylon collars to dress up a plain dress. They are made in pretty floral patterns, the petals of the flowers sweeping down to form an artistically irregular Peter Pan style. Wash them and they'll dry in a matter of minutes . . . price, 98 cents.

Cantaloupe Ideal Summer Dessert

June is a big month for succulent cantaloupes. So let's get going—

Sugar-sweet and fragrant, these cantaloupes from California and Arizona mainly, with some from Texas and even smaller amounts from Florida, are ideal for hot weather dessert.

Either filled with ice cream (called Lillian Russell) or with fresh fruit and berries, they are beautiful to look at and very, very easy to eat. Served plain, with a little salt or a sprinkling of lemon juice, they are delicious, too.

CANTALOUPE-STRAWBERRY DESSERT

Cut chilled cantaloupes in halves. Fill with lightly sweetened, crushed strawberries. Top with a few whole, perfect berries. Tuck a few fresh mint sprigs here and there. Then enjoy and be refreshed.

Try this cantaloupe salad, too. It's a favorite in our home.

Peel a ripe cantaloupe. Cut in half and scoop out seeds. Then slice each half into four strips. Place one or two strips on a bed of crisp lettuce for each serving. Pass lemon French dressing.

Cantaloupe stuffed with strawberries, garnished with mint, makes an eye-catching dessert.

One beef steer of every 10,000 sent to market is graded as "prime," on the average.

Rub paraffin or liquid wax on the slides of drawers and on ropes of windows which stick.

"Where Smart Women Prefer to Shop"

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

After months of agitation by the Elizabeth Fry Society, the John Howard Society and other groups interested in welfare work, the provincial government appointed B.C.'s first woman probation officer at the beginning of this month.

She is Miss Mildred Wright. Her office will be in Vancouver but she will work with girls and women who are in trouble from all over the province.

Miss Wright comes to the position with a wealth of experience for she spent 15 years in social work in Victoria and was recently director of the Family and Children's Service here. She left this position to continue studies in her chosen field at University of British Columbia and now has tucked away among her most treasured possessions a newly-won Master's degree in social work.

Bessie

This pleasant, youthful-faced woman, who has a wide circle of friends in this city, still believes there is no such thing as a naturally bad girl and this belief will mean a big break for the hundreds of women who find themselves under arrest in Vancouver each year.

Mind you, she is not naive enough to think that it will all be smooth sailing. And she knows if she is going to help the girls and women who come before her she will need all sorts of patience to sort out the truth from the lies she will be told.

When she was interviewed in Vancouver recently she told a columnist, "A person who is in trouble with the law is usually kind of used to lying her way out. It takes her a while to realize that when she's talking to a woman probation officer, she's talking to somebody who wants to help and that only truth can help.

"You always get three or four good lies before you get the truth," she concluded.

Believe Crime Is Product of Tragedy

But in spite of having listened to such tales for more than 15 years, Miss Wright is still full of sympathy for the girl or woman who is up before the courts. Most of her work in Victoria was with young offenders and many times in the course of that work she would tell you that these boys and girls were what they were because of some tragedy in their backgrounds. Now she will be dealing with adults—but I think that even in this work she will still be convinced that crime is a product of tragedy.

Mildred Wright's job as probation officer will be to try and cure the criminal without the surgery of jail. To do that she will have to find out all about her, what she is and how she got to be that way. She must win her confidence to effect a cure.

It is the judge who sets her to work. He asks for a report on the prisoner and delays sentence while the officer gets it. Miss Wright will get that report by talking to the prisoner, by checking up to see if she has a record—in this province or anywhere else on the continent—by talking to the prisoner's former employers, ministers, police or social workers she has come in contact with.

On this information, she either recommends probation or not. Then if the judge decides to put the prisoner on probation, Mildred Wright's work really begins. From then on she works closely, week after week, with the offender. She must make friends with her and try to help her to learn to live within the rules of society.

"A lot of people just don't seem to know enough to keep out of trouble," she told Vancouver interviewers, when she was first appointed. "In probation work we try to show them better standards of behavior. We don't try to change them, we just try to help them to live with their disability—as a woman who loses a leg learns to live without it."

"It's all interesting work, if you like people," she said.

And I can assure you if that's the answer, Mildred Wright has it. For she does like people!

PETTICOATS INTRODUCED TO TENNIS

LONDON (Reuters)—Pettipants, the most frilly nylon petticoats ever dreamed up by British designer Teddy Tinling, peeped from beneath nearly every flaring tennis skirt at Wimbledon's first ladies' day Tuesday.

One of the few exceptions was Mela Ramirez, Mexico City's petite entrant. Reason: At Sunday's pre-tennis party her pettipants dropped.

"I did not want trouble today," Miss Ramirez said. "So I just wore a skirt." She didn't amplify this intriguing statement.

But to save other women players from red faces, orders were issued to sew on an extra button to keep the pettipants up.

Presents Turkish History to Authors At Garden Party

Dr. Roger Manning traced the history of the Turkish people from the days of the Byzantine Empire to the present day in an address given at the annual garden party of Canadian Authors Association, held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Burns.

The speaker told of great art treasures which were scattered over Europe by the invading crusaders, of the Turkish crown jewels, the most fabulous he had ever seen. He found the Turkish people very courteous, he said, and he enjoyed his stay in that country.

Mrs. Sidney Roberts read Myrtle E. Lane's poem, "The Rag Rug," which won first place in the festival's speech art selection.

Man Can't Be Asked To Do a Double Job

By ELIZABETH R. HURLOCK, PhD

A man should help out at home but he should not be expected to do more than his wife does. A man writes:

(Q) "I have a problem, perhaps of my own making, but I am stumped about how to handle it. I was married nearly a year ago. Right after our honeymoon, my wife worked very hard getting our apartment fixed up. When I came home from work at night, she was always exhausted so I helped her get supper, wash the dishes, and even helped with the cleaning and washing on my day off from work. Our apartment has been fixed up for a long time but my wife still waits until I get home from work to start dinner. She feels abused if I don't help her with it and she still waits for my day off to do the cleaning and washing, so I can help her with it. We have only a four-room apartment and she has nothing except the housework to do. She plays bridge all day, goes to the movies with her girl friends, or is with her mother. I feel that she is expecting me to do too much but she can't see it my way. Her mother tells her a man should help his wife and she encourages my wife to demand my help. How would you solve this problem?"

Hurlock

(A) I would solve it by laying down the law to your wife and to your mother-in-law. Tell them both that you are perfectly willing to help but that, as things now stand, you do as much work in the home as she does and you work while she is out amusing herself.

Outline to both of them what you will do and what you expect your wife to do. Then stand firm and don't give in to tears or grumpiness. It may take time for your wife to understand what you mean and to realize that you are in earnest but, if you are firm, she will come around to see things from your angle.

One way that many men meet the problem you are facing is to go out for their meals when they find they are not prepared at home. If the laundry is not done, they send it out to a laundry.

This, of course, eats into the family budget but they take out these extras from the amount they give their wives to run the home. If you did this, your wife would have little left for amusements and this might drive home to her what you mean.

As a special service to our readers, Dr. Hurlock has written a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15c in coin with a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Teen-Age Chubby Should Not Despair—But Eat Well

You teen-agers who are thick in the middle need not despair. Eat as well-balanced diet, do some exercises if you like and then wait for a lovely figure.

Many teen-age girls want to know why I so often say to those in early teen-age, "Give nature a while. Your waistline will slim out later on."

Body types are individual but there are also general types for different age groups. The difference in bony structure and weight distribution in a girl of 13 and the same young woman of 20 may be entirely different.

It is the unusual girl in early teen-age who is not thick through the middle. Of course there are exceptions but at this age the chubby, "little girl" look usually still lingers on. You may be chubby at 12 or later and have a lovely, slim waist in your late teens.

Even the face changes from little girl rounded features to the clearer cut profile and facial structure. That is why I do not think you young teen-agers should worry if your waist is thicker than you want it to be. This is so generally true that clothes are planned especially for the girl around 12, 13 and 14 until her figure assumes more adult proportions.

Now, if you are really overweight, that is a different matter. If so, you are probably eating too many rich in-between snacks, too much candy and dessert, too many of those food items which young people especially like, and even their elders, on occasion.

You need a full, well-balanced diet, and if you want to turn into that lovely woman you can be, you will be very wise to eat your three full meals regularly and then eat the extras, because nutrition has a great effect on how pretty you will be now and as a woman. If you are too fat leave off the extras but not the three regular meals.

Board Meeting on Birthday of Hostess Group

Meeting of British Columbia Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary, held recently at Ganges, Salt Spirng Island, also marked the 30th anniversary of the hostess branch.

Archdeacon G. H. Holmes in his noon address said that of the 28 charter members of the branch, nine were still actively engaged in church work. He sketched briefly the history of the Anglican churches on Salt Spring Island, some over 60 years of age. In 1886, he said, services were conducted on the island by a clergyman who rowed across from Chemainus, often in rough weather.

Mrs. R. O. Taylor presided; Mrs. Holmes took the scripture reading and welcome to delegates was given by Mrs. G. W. Leggett, president of the Salt Spring branch.

In her treasurer's report, Mrs. F. A. Goodwin showed receipts of $1,768.37; Mrs. E. J. Harris, Little Helpers, spoke of annual meetings of various branches, especially that of St. John's, Victoria, where 101 Little Helpers and more than 60 parents were present.

Report of junior secretary Mrs. W. Lowery was read by Mrs. A. A. Bates; extra cent secretary Mrs. W. M. Nicholson reported $300 in that fund; Miss L. Helliwell stressed the important of the devotional books and pamphlets in the educational department and Mrs. H. G. Horth reported on girls work.

Candidates secretary, Mrs. E. Sigston, announced that Miss Shirley Andrews and Miss Shirley Mason, diocese of the Arctic, will be home on furlough for two months; Miss Mary Rock, graduated from Toronto Anglican Women's Training College, will work as a bishop's messenger in Caledonia and Miss Phyllis Worsley will go to All Saints Hospital at Aklavik as a nurse.

Other reports were given by Mrs. S. H. Partridge for Mrs. S. Watson, Comox deanery; Mrs. Head, costumes; Lady Lake, Anglican Theological College. At close of the meeting members were taken on a drive around the island.

TODAY'S RECIPE

BAKED ALASKA

One sponge or plain cake 1 to 1½ inch thick, 3 egg whites, dash of salt, 6 tablespoons fine granulated sugar, 1 pint ice cream (brick or bulk).

Cut cake into oblong pieces, ½ inch larger than a brick of ice cream. If possible use a clean piece of wood or a bread board for a baking sheet. Wet thoroughly with water. Place piece of waxed paper cut to size of cake on board, cover with cake. Whip egg whites and salt until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar, a spoonful at a time. Beat until meringue holds in stiff peaks. Place ice cream on cake, leaving ½ inch of cake protruding on all sides. Cover ice cream and cake completely with meringue. Place in a very hot oven 425 degrees F. for 4 to 5 minutes until meringue is delicately brown. Cut into slices and serve at once. Yield: 6 servings. Note: Use ice cream with a definite flavor rather than plain vanilla.

Sir Ernest Inspires Musicians But Empty Seats Mar Triumph

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Anticipation, which has been building for weeks, rose to a climax Tuesday night, when Sir Ernest MacMillan mounted the podium of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra and raised his baton for the opening Bach Prelude and Fugue in G minor.

Two hours later the audience drifted out of the Royal Theatre in a heady cloud of exhiliration. The concert had lived up to the most optimistic expectations; far exceeded the majority.

Indeed there was only one flaw in the entire evening—the fact that too many empty seats indicated inadequate appreciation of one of the great moments in the musical history of this city. For such an occasion and to honor so eminent a musician as Sir Ernest MacMillan, nothing less than packed houses was a logical expectation.

Sir Ernest is a dramatic figure in action, drawing lights and shadows from the orchestra with quivering fingers and broad, impassioned gestures. But his graphic style is dictated solely by the demands of the music; there is no redundancy or suggestion of flamboyance. He beams on his musicians, becomes serious, emphatic, imperative, by turns.

He builds climaxes splendidly, always preserves a suggestion of under-statement rather than over-statement; leashes the orchestral powers so shrewdly that there is ever "a hill beyond a hill" that is loftier and more massive than the rest.

This was a master communicating his sensitive and true vision of priceless music through a responsive and obviously inspired group of musicians. This was an orchestra whose sound training and background permitted it to rise eagerly to the challenge of the conductor's genius.

IRRESISTIBLE VITALITY

Consistently, throughout the program, there was a spontaneous, irresistible vitality in performance and attack, a crispness of rhythm, moments of sheer virtuosity in all sections.

Dvorak's D Minor Symphony, too seldom heard, deserves the high regard in which experts hold it. Magnificently constructed, it is replete with rich thematic material melodically haunting, dramatic. The performance given it under Sir Ernest's guidance emphasized the mystery, nobility and tragedy implicit in the first movement through majestic breadth of phrase, perfectly balanced contrasts.

The slow movement held a deep, reflective poignancy; the finale, after the buoyant scherzo, was a magnificently architectured performance that called forth Jovian lightning in vivid brass and flashing strings, contrasted with poetic 'cello and viola passages and delicate flickering of woodwinds.

Among foremost Bach exponents of the day, Sir Ernest has developed a broad, organ-like character in orchestrating the G Minor Prelude and Fugue, and the playing of this at the outset of the program gave immediate indication of the high standard to be expected from the balance of the evening.

DISTINCTIVE TREATMENT

The orchestra dealt competently and spiritedly with De Falla's dances from the ballet, "The Three-Cornered Hat." This difficult music with its swift and sudden changes of tempo and rhythm, its amazing use of orchestral color, its individualism, received bold, distinctive treatment from Sir Ernest.

In complete contrast was the Haydn Symphony No. 88, which was played with immaculate detail; the minuetto movement an exquisite mirroring of 18th century elegance and charm.

At the conclusion, Sir Ernest spoke of his pleasure and satisfaction in the orchestra's attainment and directed a full share of the enthusiastic acclaim to the loge, where Hans Gruber, musical director of the Victoria Symphony, was seated.

"Victoria is fortunate in the possession of this orchestra and Hans Gruber. May they continue to prosper together for many years," Sir Ernest commented.

The program will be repeated tonight at 8.30.

Canadian Named To Play Role in 'Silver Chalice'

NEW YORK (CP) — Lorne Greene, Toronto stage, radio and television actor, has been chosen for the role of Peter the Apostle in the movie adaption of Canadian-born Thomas B. Costain's best-selling novel "The Silver Chalice."

Warner Bros. studio announced Tuesday that Greene will appear in the Cinemascope production along with such stars as Virginia Mayo, Pier Angeli, Jack Palance and Paul Newman.

Greene made his Broadway debut this season in "The Prescott Proposals," starring Katharine Cornell.

The word volcano comes from the Latin form of "vulcanus," the name given by the ancient Romans to their god of fire, Vulcan.

Canadian Teachers Support TV as Education Medium

TORONTO (CP) — The CBC reported Tuesday that Canadian teachers have overwhelmingly approved the use of television as an education medium.

Reporting on results of a trial series of four TV school programs designed to educate and interest children in out-of-school hours and visually supplement present school radio programs, the CBC said teacher comments included some who thought "the sooner we get television in the school, the better."

The results of the trial TV programs were published Tuesday in a booklet entitled "Can TV Link Home and School?—Report of a CBC Experiment."

The programs, covering ranching in Alberta, uranium prospecting, the Kitimat power project and the maple sugar industry, were telecast in March. Then 2,000 questionnaires were sent to teachers and results were evaluated from the 592 returned.

The CBC says the telecasts succeeded in their main aim of visually supplementing school radio broadcasts. The teachers overwhelmingly approved the idea, 94 per cent wanting this type of telecast continued.

No Peacetime Draft Possible for Canada

Defense Department Officials Comment on Views of Gen. Simonds

OTTAWA (CP)—For both political and financial reasons, there is no chance of peacetime conscription in Canada, defence officials said Tuesday.

Sectional opposition to conscription forms a long and well-known chapter in Canadian history. And the expense for conscription would be heavy.

The officials were commenting on a Saint John, N.B., report quoting Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds as saying he feels the majority of Canadian officers share his view that every youth in the country should receive two years' training.

The chief of the general staff added that conscription is a matter for political, not military, decision and that it would work only with the wholehearted support of the government and the people.

WELL-KNOWN VIEWS

These views of Gen. Simonds have been well known for some time. They are the views of a commander who would want available as many trained men as possible in event of an emergency.

Defense Minister Claxton said he could not comment until he had seen the report or talked with Gen. Simonds.

Some officials here say they believe that conscription would be essential for Canada in the event of a third world war, particularly if Canada itself were attacked with atomic weapons.

The Saint John report did not make clear whether Gen. Simonds was referring to compulsory training in the reserve or in the regular needs.

MANPOWER PICTURE

Defense officials give this manpower picture:

The regular army has about reached its levelling-off point at some 50,000 soldiers. Before long, the stage should be reached where enlistments and retirements are in balance.

To obtain a bigger army would cost a lot more money and the government at this time doesn't want to push defense expenditures beyond the current $2,000,000,000 a year. For instance, the government has said it does not intend to join any Southeast Asia pact because its commitments are heavy enough as they are.

Therefore, attempts are being made to increase the efficiency of the 57,000-member militia. The government can do this at fairly little cost.

MANY TRACTORS

Canadian farms had one tractor for every 242 acres of improved agricultural land in the last census.

Tobacco Men Reply to Cancer Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The tobacco industry says more study is needed to determine the causes of cancer and heart disease.

It described as "preliminary" a report by the American Cancer Society that indicated heavy smoking tends to reduce the life span, at least for men aged 50 to 70.

The tobacco industry research committee said Tuesday data in the report "would be more useful when all the work has been completed and fully analyzed and set forth as is established custom in scientific journals."

The committee set up by the industry, to determine effects of tobacco on health, issued its statement through Dr. Clarence Cook Little, its scientific director, after first declining comment.

Little said he had the greatest respect for Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond and Dr. Daniel Horn, who drew up the cancer society report, and expressed belief "their completed data" will be of interest to science.

But Little called attention to a "simultaneous statement" by Dr. Charles S. Cameron of the cancer society "to the effect" that the "Hammond-Horn theory" is not "entirely proved."

Fishermen's Strike Held Up Over Fair Price on Sockeye

VANCOUVER (CP) — Talks Tuesday between cannery operators and representatives of B.C.'s 6,000 striking salmon fishermen cleared some points of dispute but there still is no agreement on sockeye prices.

At the give-and-take meeting, the Fisheries Association of B.C. upped their other offers a little, and the fishermen lowered demands a fraction.

Bill Rigby, UFAW research director, said there is no reason to be pessimistic as long as dispussions continue. The strike started Saturday midnight.

$800,000 Loss Taken by Ottawa In 1953 Butter; Helped Buyers

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has lost about $800,000 in disposal of 1953 butter at reduced prices, but sales have stopped and likely will not be resumed until next fall, federal officials said Tuesday.

The government supports the butter market by offering to buy all surplus production at 58 cents a pound wholesale. It usually sells its accumulated surplus to the trade during the slack winter production period at a slightly higher price to cover storage and handling charges.

However, on May 31 it began offering its 33,000,000-pound stockpile of 1953 butter to the trade at 55½ cents a pound, absorbing a loss of about four cents a pound.

Though no complete figures have been disclosed officially, it is believed the government disposed of some 20,000,000 pounds in the two-week period, deciding to carry the remaining 13,000,000 into the fall-winter period.

Officials estimated the loss at roughly $800,000. But they emphasized that consumers had the advantage of the price drop since it helped reduce retail butter prices in many Canadian communities.

They did not know what price the remaining 1953 butter will be sold at next fall, but there is a feeling that it may form part of 1954 supplies to be sold at regular government prices—perhaps 60 or 61 cents a pound wholesale.

In other words there will be no more "cheap" butter, unless, of course, there is an unusual heavy summer production season and a big pile-up of surpluses in government warehouses.

Federal officials don't believe there is that possibility this year. Though production has been relatively good in the central provinces, heavy rains in the west have reduced prairie milk and butter output.

Exercises Spur Interest In Civil Defense—Hatcher

Civil defense exercises are proving to be one of the best mediums to spur interest of citizens in civil preparedness for a possible enemy strike against this centre, Co-ordinator Leonard Hatcher said today.

He reported that 279 persons have enrolled with the organization since the June 14 exercises when Victoria was "hit" by guided missles.

"Schemes the public can view to show portions of the organization in action appear to be the best way to awaken citizens to the necessity of preparedness," said the director.

More schemes are planned in the following months.

★ ★ ★

Federal grants to British Columbia for civil defense operations this year will total $187,000, or $64,665 more than last year, according to a new program of CD grants announced in the House of Commons by Health Minister Paul Martin. Municipalities will get more financial aid through the new plan.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Hatcher is seeking to establish a new group in civil defense through the service clubs. Aim is a Civil Defense Club Auxiliary.

He has written all secretaries pointing out that members of the groups not already enrolled in CD — many are — could perform some civil defense function if an emergency arises as soon as they can conveniently free themselves from their own commitments.

"An example of this is that a service club member would undertake to report to an Emergency Instruction Point and help the CD official he finds on duty or others would report to first-aid stations or welfare centres and do whatever jobs were required of them," Mr. Hatcher said.

Those enrolling will be allotted report centres by the director.

Minor Rule Changes Made In Soccer

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The men who make the rules of international soccer turned down Tuesday a plan that would bring more penalty goals.

They urged the indirect free kick for obstruction in the penalty area be abolished but the idea ran into stiff opposition from England and northern Ireland and was dropped.

The board made two small changes in the laws of the game.

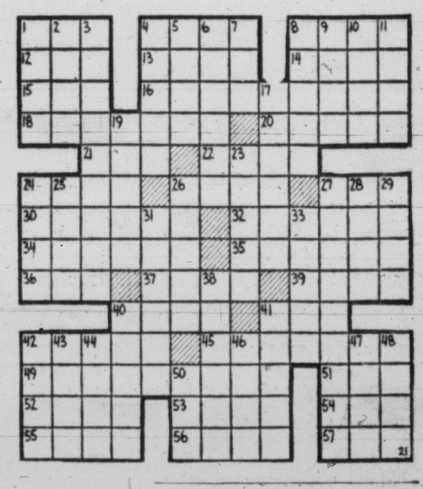

One makes clear the ball cannot be changed during a match without the referee's permission. The other provides the player who comes on to the field late or returns after injury can go straight into the contest from the sideline without reporting to the officials once the referee has signaled him on to the field.

At the same time righthanded pitchers Brooks Lawrence and Ralph Beard were brought up from Columbus.

BIG CKDA MASTS JUST ONE-MAN JOB

Jovial Joe LaChance, 48, Erected Three 200-Foot Steel Towers in Three Weeks

By AB KENT

Steel towers, 200 feet high, for CKDA's new 5,000-watt transmitter to go into use early in July, were erected single-handedly by a jovial French-Canadian on the largest of Chatham Islands, off Cadboro Bay.

He is 48-year-old Joe LaChance, of Chicoutimi, Que., son of a civil engineer and a structural steel worker since the tender age of 12.

"As long as I'm kicking," he says, I'll be building towers. I like it." And to see him at work, it is easy to believe.

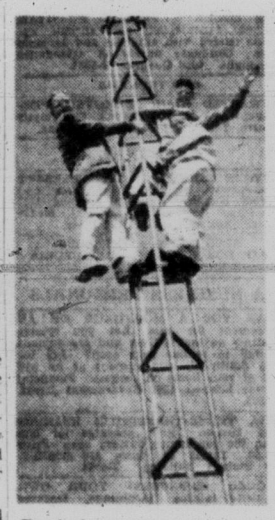

$100,000 EXPANSION

CKDA, the city's youngest station, is now engaged in a $100,000 expansion program which will boost its power from 250 to 5,000 watts.

The 10-acre transmitter site on Chatham Island will have special emergency equipment enabling the station, if necessary, to operate independently of submarine telephone and power cables from Vancouver Island.

Joe began work on the island May 31. By June 9 he had completed two towers and reached the 40-foot mark on the third, using nothing but the tools and skills acquired in erecting 60 such towers in Canada.

Three weeks after he set up his mobile workshop on Chatham, Joe was finished his part of the job, which includes stringing guy cables to the ground.

DESIGNED HOIST

His one mechanical aid was a hoist of his own design and make, operated by a seven-horsepower gasoline engine. He used it like an elevator, raising himself, the hoist and 20-foot sections of tower by means of a cable fastened to already erected sections.

He says it takes no time to build towers; it's the rigging of cables that is slow. Cables must be run from the tops and from two places lower down on each tower in order to support the steel in winds. Longest of these guy wires is 240 feet.

Of all the work he has done in this country, says Joe, most significant was his job at Sumas Flat, where he completed a set of towers for a Vancouver station in seven and a half days.

"No one has beat my record at Sumas Flat," Joe smiles.

CKDA is making history in several respects over on Chatham Island. The bulldozer taken by barge to clear the site was the first vehicle to go ashore on the Indian reservation, peopled by a few shepherds, the lighthouse keeper and his wife. It is the first B.C. radio transmitter situated on so small an island, total area of which is less than one square mile.

IMPROVES QUALITY

According to manager-owner Dave Armstrong, to have a transmitter completely surrounded by salt water improves the quality of radio transmission. Also, due to the directional nature of the transmission pattern, the station's 5,000 watts will give the same result as a station with twice that power, thinks Armstrong.

The manager is sure it will be the first Canadian station to be completely independent of outside cables should an emergency occur.

Normally, the station will operate using B.C. Electric power and B.C. Telephone lines strung underwater from Cadboro Bay. From the downtown studios a high frequency shortwave transmitter will broadcast a directed beam to the island if telephone lines fail. This signal will then be transmitted from the towers.

A gasoline powered generating system will cut itself in automatically to provide the transmitter with electricity should B.C. Electric fail.

LIKES AERIAL JOBS

While this expensive electronic equipment was being installed, Joe swung happily at precarious heights, putting final, almost affectionate touches on his towers. Aerial work means so much to him that when there are no radio jobs he does steeple-jacking on factory chimneys.

His introduction to structural steel work came when he was a window washer near a construction project. The job foreman noticed his monkey-like alacrity at window washing and offered him a job.

Joe says it was the first thing he had seen that he really liked. He's been with it since.

750,000 to View Ceremonies Honoring Quebec Patron Saint

MONTREAL (BUP)—French Canada honors its patron saint with a mass, band concerts and fireworks tonight and ceremonies here tomorrow that are expected to draw 750,000 participants and spectators.

Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal, was scheduled to officiate at tonight's mass in Lafontaine Park in honor of St. Jean Baptiste. Tomorrow, St. Jean Baptiste Day, will be a provincial statutory holiday and most stores and other business establishments will be closed.

F. Eugene Therrien, president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, estimated that 750,000 persons would attend tonight's band concert, mass and fireworks display and tomorrow's traditional parade in which 20 floats will be featured on a route going from east to west on Sherbrooke Street.

The parade floats traditionally represent the story of Canada's development from the days of the early French settlers to the present era of industrial might. The final float will feature a small boy who will represent St. Jean Baptiste.

Persons whose home line the parade route started setting up stands and selling seats in them several days ago. Most of the best seats were reported sold out early today. Police said the seat-selling was illegal in most cases because the people who put them up failed to get city permits, but as in past years condoned it.

"I'm dreaming of my White Wedding"

"Isn't it going to be a beautiful dress? I've been daydreaming about my white wedding for years, but I hardly dared hope for this. You see, my father died when I was very small, and . . . well, there just wasn't any money to spare.

"But Mother managed to put me through school, and three years ago I got my first job. At first I just didn't know how I'd ever spend all that money. Yet at the end of three months I hadn't saved a penny.

"And then, Ted proposed. You can imagine how thrilled and happy I was. And I decided then and there to start saving for our wedding.

"So, on my uncle's advice, I opened a savings account at The Dominion Bank. Every pay day without fail, I deposited a few dollars. I was really surprised at just how quickly my savings mounted up. And now, thanks to that savings account, I know that I'll be a bride that Ted will be proud of in the wedding dress of my dreams.

"The wedding's in two weeks. Uncle Alec says he's giving away the happiest bride in the world . . . and Ted says the loveliest, bless his heart. We're planning to open a joint account at The Dominion Bank . . . and start saving for a home of our own. Isn't life wonderful!!"

Probably you, too, have a special goal in life. You'll find that opening a savings account at The Dominion Bank will help you to fulfill it. Come in and talk to the Manager. BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

The bidding is usually a search for a trump suit in which you and your partner together hold eight cards. When the partnership hands include no eight-card suits, it is sometimes necessary to be satisfied with a trump suit in which the combined holding is only seven cards. In this case, a 5-2 suit (five trumps in one hand and two in the partner's hand) is usually sought.

There are times, however, when a 4-3 trump suit should be preferred to a 5-2 suit. In today's hand, for example, South made an easy game at spades while game at hearts would have been more difficult and might have been impossible against careful defense.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the ace of diamonds. On receiving the deuce from his partner, he switched to a club.

South decided that the enemy's failure to continue diamonds indicated that the suit was split 3-3. After winning the second trick with the ace of clubs, therefore, he cashed the king of diamonds and led the jack to dummy's queen.

South next ruffed a club and entered dummy with the king of hearts to ruff another club. He then cashed the ace of hearts and led the queen of hearts next.

West couldn't do much about this, but he hopefully ruffed with the five. Dummy overruffed and led the last club for South to ruff with the 10 of spades. South next led the 10 of hearts, and West could only helplessly ruff with the seven.

Dummy overruffed once more, and now the last diamond was led from dummy. East could not prevent declarer from winning a further trick with the king of spades, and the defenders thus won their two aces.

THURSDAY, JUNE 24, 1954

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) — You can accomplish pretty much whatever you like today, for the power of the planets is with you, but it would be wise to make long range plans about your worldly ambitions for greatest success.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) — Lingering desire to get out from under tiresome tedium can be sensibly forgotten in using your fine mind to uncover information you desire that can bring fascinating outlets quickly to you. Scan newspaper for it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — This is your day to make more money by using that mental swiftness combined with like quickness of the hands and limbs. A very energetic brilliant friend helps greatly.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Keep an eye on how your career is going while you get together with old and experienced colleague about bringing your creative abilities before others. Have fun tonight.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) — Getting out in world of more activity brings more suggestions than you'd considered possible, both for lightening conditions at home and also for doing your own job more efficiently.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22) — Listening to your intuitions for a change shows how you can combine business associates and strictly social ties to have more of the benefits of life that appeal to you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) — This is your day to be very practical indeed about money matters, but do so in a big vein rather than fuss about saving pennies in marketing, supplies, etc. Expand your idea of abundance, to let big benefits in.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) — You are eager for some happy moments right now, but they will have to await performance of some definite duties that cannot be put off longer without detriment to your good name, reputation.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) — Keeping steadfastly, stubbornly cheerful despite any pressures from without or within brings you favor of financial wizards so you soon have more money than you anticipated.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) — Try to keep away from home again today, which is fine for getting together with other members of your family (kinfolk) or long-time supporters who can help your worldly ambitions.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) — Using that swift-moving, problem-solving, humanitarian mind to get others out of trouble as well as performing your own job more efficiently makes this very good day. Follow prophetic insight that suddenly is yours p.m.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) — Activity today is generated in getting dynamic, hard-working comrades to give you some of their valuable time to bring you into more lofty visions, horizons which you, as a Piscean, naturally crave.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

Thursday's child is one of those very ingenious and intelligent youngsters who will surely have all sorts of ideas for securing the goodwill of the general public, but who will also have some extremely sound and solid ideas for ways to put his, or her, ambitions into effective execution. Make sure that you do give this child a real chance to put these goals into execution, for by combining the worldly ambitions with the keen and alert mentality there is no height that your progeny cannot reach.

Drew Renews Conference Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew today renewed his appeal that the government take the initiative in calling a Commonwealth conference to show the world, confronted by many conference failures, how a meeting of nations can be held—and be successful.

Speaking in the Commons during debate on Privy Council estimates, Mr. Drew made a direct request of Prime Minister St. Laurent that he take up the Commonwealth conference with Sir Winston Churchill when the "greatest parliamentary democrat in the world" arrives in Ottawa June 29.

"I hope the prime minister shall, on that occasion, indicate an expression of hope of the House of Commons and the people of Canada that there be as soon as possible a conference of the Commonwealth to consider those many things which would be of advantage to us in the years ahead."

Mr. Drew urged also that Mr. St. Laurent give consideration to drawing together the provinces in another federal-provincial conference, to clear away such conflicts as the income tax clash between Ottawa and Quebec.

Canada-U.S. Conference Next Week on Seaway Plans

OTTAWA (BUP) — Preliminary negotiations for a new St. Lawrence seaway agreement to provide for United States participation in the project will get under way here next week, the department of external affairs announced today.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson tabled an exchange of notes on the subject in the House of Commons. Canada's note, dated June 16, set the week of June 28 for meetings of officials in Ottawa to "prepare a list of specific topics which might form the basis for subsequent intergovernmental discussions."

Canada informed the United States that this country was willing to discuss proposals for U.S. participation so long as they did not delay the start of the long-awaited project.

By present agreement between the two countries Canada is committed to build the seaway from Montreal harbour to the Erie Canal alone. Recent passage of the Wiley Act by the U.S. Congresss authorizes the U.S. government to build a deep water canal around the international rapids of the St. Lawrence.

The White House notified Canada last week of the passage of the bill.

Next week's negotiations will be aimed at finding ways to dovetail the U.S. project in the Canadian project, which is already under way.

International Tribute Paid MRA Founder

GENEVA (CP)—Government officials from many countries Tuesday joined in paying tribute to Dr. Frank Buchman, initator of the Moral Re-Armament movement.

The occasion was a luncheon in Dr. Buchman's honor held in the Palais des Nations here and attended by delegates to the International Labor Organization.

The United States delegate, Governor Arthur Langlie of Washington, said Dr. Buchman had "pointed the way to the answers instead of to confusion, hate and bitterness."

He attributed the lessening of child delinquency and penal problems in his state to MRA and added that "more local application of the absolute standards of MRA would help in the solving of international problems."

IMPORTING COUNTRIES HOLDING OUT

Wheat Could Drop to $1.55 If IWA Minimum Is Reached

BY OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A question being raised in world grain markets following the recent international meeting in London is whether major wheat exporting countries will cut prices to minimum levels permitted under the International Wheat Agreement in an effort to boost lagging export sales.

There have been indications that the United States, a major exporter, would like to cut its export prices in a move to reduce a surplus supply. But opposition has been encountered from Canada, and the U.S. hesitates to act lest relations with Canada be disturbed.

A large portion of the wheat sold in world trade moves under provisions of the IWA. This pact sets up export quotas for major surplus-producing countries and import quotas for about 40 countries which do not produce as much wheat as they need. It also sets maximum and minimum prices.

Export and import quotas totaling 421,000,000 bushels were set for the marketing year ending July 31. But, with only little over a month to go, importing countries have taken only 210,000,000 bushels. The U.S., for instance, has sold only 105,000,000 bushles of its 209,000,000 export quota, and Canada 85,000,000 of her 163,000,000 bushels.

Importing countries are obligated to buy their full quotas only if wheat is offered them at the minimum price, which is $1.55 a bushel. The top price is $2.05. Both Canada and the U.S. now are offering wheat at about $1.70.

A further cut in the export price would adversely affect Canadian wheat growers, but not those in the U.S. That's because the wheat programs of the two countries are sharply different.

The U.S. government maintains a support price for wheat, which for this year's crop is a national average of $2.21 a bushel. Wheat that cannot be sold for this price is turned over to the government under the support program.

In Canada, a government board controls the marketing of wheat. It sets sales quotas for individual growers and sets a buying price at the start of the marketing season. This price is usually considerably below the amount the board believes it will be able to get for the grain.

Guns to Boom Thursday Night In Militia Mock-War Test

Heavy coastal guns will fire at mythical invading enemy craft in the strait off Victoria Thursday night in a joint exercise of two militia artillery units from Fort Mary Hill in the Metchosin-Sooke area.

Participating are the Victoria 5th (BC) Coast Regiment and the 102nd Coast Regiment from Vancouver, both RCA militia units undergoing summer camp training at the big-gun fort.

Both units have good representations at the camp, according to commanders Lieut.-Col. Keith Dixon of the 5th and Lieut.-Col. H. W. Peck of the Vancouver unit.

The guns will be fired only at half-charge during the latter part of the week. The part-time gunners started outdoor training last week-end and will wind up the camp Sunday.

Capt. Alex F. Coldwell of the Canadian Army Regular is director of practice and he is assisted by Lieut. W. O. Botting, also of the active force.

Officers of the 5th attending camp and taking active part in the training are Captains C. W. Archer, K. Fraser and Chuck McLeod.

GALLUP POLL OF CANADA

Fears of Third World War In 10 Years Quite Strong

BY CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

Fear of World War III, starting within 10 years, has a fairly strong hold on the minds of the Canadian public. Almost two-thirds of the people are undecided about the possibility, or definitely believe there will be such a conflagration. Less than two-fifths are of the opinion that it will not occur.

This fear is very much stronger among young people than among older, and affects a larger majority of the people in Western Canada than in the East.

In its latest report, trained interviewers for the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion (the Gallup Poll) asked a cross-section of adults:

"Do you think there will be another world war within the next 10 years?"

Yes, will be	31%
No will NOT be	38
Undecided	31
	100%

The optimism of older Canadians is shown in this table, revealing the point of view of those in their twenties as compared to men and women who are 50 or more:

	21-29	50 and Over
Yes, will be	39%	23%
No will NOT be	29	41
Undecided	32	36
	100%	100%

On the Prairies and in B.C., no less than 35 per cent of the people think another war will come within 10 years. In Quebec and Ontario, about 28 per cent believe this; in the Maritimes, 31 per cent. Men are more cheery than women. Forty-three per cent of Canadian males do not expect World War III within the decade, while 33 per cent of the women think this. Women are considerably more undecided than men on the problem.

Sad German Immigrant Sees Slain Wife, Children Buried

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (BUP)—Horst Kopplin, a heartbroken German immigrant, accompanied police today to the place where his attractive wife and two children were murdered in their lonely cabin at the railway siding of Kelly, 82 miles west of Port Arthur.

Kopplin had asked to see the charred embers of his cabin, and officers of the criminal investigation bureau hoped he might be able to shed some light on the tripie slaying.

Police in Port Arthur, meanwhile, planned to continue questioning two suspects, Rafaele Esposito, 30-year-old railway section hand who last saw Kopplin's son alive, and Edmund Beatty, 43, a transient who was picked up near the murder scene with two books of poetry in his pockets.

Kopplin saw his 28-year-old wife and children buried in Port Arthur Tuesday. He was 200 miles away preparing a house for them when they were bludgeoned Saturday and left to die in their flaming cabin.

He blamed the death of his family on the isolation of the northern Ontario bush.

"It is not natural to live so far from everybody else," he said. "That is what makes some men into devils."

He said the government should organize communities for immigrants rather than "have them go off by themselves, miles from anybody."

What's news at Inco*?

Inco makes worthless ore pay off

IN Inco's Creighton mine, there is ore so low in grade that it could not be mined at a profit. In this mine, Inco engineers have adopted a method of mining called "induced caving". In this method, no explosives are required and the ore practically mines itself. So an immense body of ore which was once thought worthless has become a valuable asset to Canada.

French Premier Hopeful For Peace After Parley

Mendes-France Discusses War With Red Chief

BERN, Switzerland (UP) — French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who promised his country a quick peace in Indo-China, said today he believed chances for ending the war in Indo-China were improved by his "frank and complete" discussion of the problem with Red China's premier and foreign minister, Chou En-Lai.

The bustling French premier and the stolid Red leader met in the French embassy here for what Mendes-France told newsmen was "not a discussion but an absolutely free conversation about Indo-China.

"This frank and complete conversation permits me to hope that the Geneva conference (on Indo-China) can make progress," the French premier said.

He said he agreed with Chou that nothing would be added to that brief statement "in the interests of our objective which is the re-establishment of peace in southeast Asia."

Mendes-France did say, however, that nothing except Indo-China was discussed between them.

"The Indo-Chinese problem is for us (France) most important and the talks centred around it.

"I want to conclude on a note of optimism," said the French premier. "I hope that the conversations which just took place will help the re-establishment of peace."

The meeting at the French embassy began just a half-hour after Chou arrived in the Swiss capital from Geneva, where he has been attending the Indo-China peace conference.

Mendes-France arrived early today from Paris. He spent the morning conferring with leading members of the French delegation to the Geneva conference.

SET OWN DEADLINE

Mendes-France took office with a promise to resign if he does not bring peace to Indo-China by July 20.

ANTHONY EDEN
". . . grave risk of war."

Eden Sees Risk of War In Indo-China

Prime Minister Churchill and Eden faced last-minute Labor party demands to go slow on any Southeast Asia defense pact before flying to Washington.

Churchill and Eden were scheduled to leave at 6.45 p.m. (12.45 p.m. PDT) and arrive in Washington at 6 a.m. PDT on Thursday for their meeting with President Eisenhower.

From AP and UP Dispatches

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today the situation in Southeast Asia carries "risks of a wider conflagration."

Eden, who led the British delegation at Geneva conference, was greeted with cheers as he opened a one-day foreign policy debate on the eve of his departure with Prime Minister Churchill for week-end talks with President Eisenhower.

Eden admitted that "no real progress" had been made at Geneva toward settlement of the Korean situation.

Referring to Indo-China, he said: "Seldom have I known a situation in which the risks of wider conflagration should be more apparent to all."

French Planes Destroy Red Supply Bases

HANOI, Indo-China (UP) —Fifty French B-26 bombers destroyed five Communist Indo-Chinese bases 50 miles east of Hanoi today with 62 tons of bombs.

The French high command announced that an hour before the B-26's pulverized the bases near the Hanoi-Haiphong supply lifeline fighter planes dropped leaflets warning civilians of the forthcoming attack.

This method of warning the populace was developed by the French air force as the best way of hitting Red build-up bases without killing civilians.

The bombers dropped 500 and 1,000-pound delayed action bombs. Photo-reconnaissance planes produced aerial photographs showing bombs had hit their targets squarely.

The raids took place as French Union troops fought an all-out battle with rebels 30 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The French high command disclosed a "veritable battle" has been raging the past four days around the defense ring of concrete forts and blockhouses built at Sontay by the late Marshal Jean de Lattre de Tassigny to keep the rebels from driving into the heart of the Red River Delta.

But the high command did not disclose details of the progress of the battle or the number of casualties, which was expected to be heavy.

Drinks Vote Set July 12 For Oak Bay

The provincial cabinet today set July 12 as the date for a liquor plebiscite in Oak Bay municipality. Registration of voters not on the provincial voters' list will close July 2.

Oak Bay residents will vote on the four different types of liquor outlets. The plebiscite is the result of a request made by the municipal council.

Saanich voters will ballot on the new liquor outlets on June 29, as will Central Saanich electors.

60 Today

The man who was once called "Britain's greatest traveling salesman," reached 60 today. The Duke of Windsor, who as Edward VIII addicated the throne of England 18 years ago, spent the day quietly sunning himself in the garden of his Paris home which he shares with his American-born duchess.

B.C. Civil Servants Urging Strike Vote

Our Slips Are Showing

Downtown city streets are beginning to show clearly effect of the outside civic workers' strike. Above photo shows Yates at Government. "Keep City Clean" containers are filled. Litter thrown on streets and sidewalks has not been collected for a week. Some householders reportedly are bringing some of their home garbage to town in paper bags, and leaving it in the refuse containers. (See civic strike story, Page 17.) (Times photo.)

New Grievance Policy Brings Stoppage Threat

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Hundreds of provincial government civil servants have demanded their executives call an immediate strike vote in the face of government refusal to hear their grievances.

This was revealed today by Carl Hauck, president of the B.C. Government Civil Service Association (TLC) as the group's 17-man executive laid plans for a vital July 2 meeting.

The meeting will discuss Premier Bennett's statement last week that the government will no longer meet directly with the association to hear wage demand and job grievances.

Mr. Hauck said many of the association's labor groups are openly discussing strike action, and that several resolutions, bearing up to 480 names, have been received by the excutive asking for a walk-out ballot.

"It is common knowledge that some branches of our association have submitted resolutions to the executive asking for an immediate strike," said Mr. Hauck.

'Played Politics' Says Premier

Premier Bennett said meetings between the association and the cabinet have been discontinued "because certain people in the association played politics."

In future, all grievances, dealing with wages and conditions, will be handled within the affected department by the minister and the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Hauck defied the premier to "tell us who the people are who have been playing politics. Name them," he said.

"I want to know who these people are. All I have heard so far is rumor and innuendo. The by-laws of our association say active participation in politics by any member shall be cause for termination of membership of such member."

Premier Bennett told the Times that the annual report of the Civil Service Commission, a department set up to administer the Civil Service Act, showed "no job grievances in 1953."

Said Mr. Hauck: "The premier is definitely misinformed when he says there are no grievances."

The association president said three basic groups within the association—tradesmen, Liquor Control Board employees and psychiatric nurses—still do not have a five-day week.

A highly-placed source told The Times today that physchiatric nurses employed at the provincial mental hospital at Essondale are "ready to walk out at any time."

Civil servants, other than white-collar workers, still work a six-day, 44-hour week.

Mr. Hauck made the position of his group clear. "We are not interested in the government as a government," he said. "But rather as an employer of labor."

"Some of the things we are asking for, including arbitration, we have been fighting for for 10 years," he said. "Our quarrel is not with any particular type of government, but with our employer, which is the government."

He added: "We have several courses of action open, and all will be discussed thoroughly at the director's meeting."

"Legally, we could strike," he said, "or we could submit our problems to public opinion."

Charge Election Promises Not Kept

The association president said that during the 1952 general election campaign association branches "asked every candidate for his stand on granting arbitration rights to civil servants."

"A majority of Social Credit candidates, including six men who are now cabinet ministers, said they were in favor of arbitration of civil servants," he said.

"When they were elected, we asked them to implement their promises, and we are still waiting," said Mr. Hauck. "The premier was not one of the six," he said.

Premier Bennett formed a three-man cabinet sub-committee to hear wage demands and job grievances in the spring of 1953. It met the association committee once, in January of that year, and has not sat since.

Premier Bennett said: "The cabinet sub-committee quit meeting the association because certain people in the association played politics. It destroyed the work the committee was doing," he said.

Since that time, repeated requests for a meeting have been ignored by the cabinet.

"This statement from the press is the first we have heard from the government," said Mr. Hauck. "We will have to act on it."

"If I have my way, we will face up to this thing right now," he added.

The association head said the executive may decide to wait until the group's fall convention at Nanaimo and let "some disgruntled branch" submit a resolution calling for a strike.

Latest efforts for a meeting with the cabinet made by the association include a "smoothing out" meeting between Premier Bennett and Trades and Labor Congress of Canada vice-president R. K. Gervin, held two weeks ago.

"There has got to be some appeal to our elected representative," said Mr. Hauck. He said the association considered Section 72 of the Civil Service Act binding on the government.

The section reads: "A committee elected (by a majority of members in good standing of a civil servants' association) shall be recognized by the lieutenant-governor in council as the representatives of the employees for the purpose of discussing any matters affecting their general welfare and conditions of employment."

Record Vote Expected in Vancouver

VANCOUVER — Bright sunshine encouraged hopes for a record turnout of voters today with ballots being cast on four money by-laws and a bitterly-disputed shopping referendum aimed at replacing all-day Wednesday store closing with six-day-a-week shopping.

A total of 171,882 persons were eligible to vote at 91 polls, which opened at 8 a.m. and will close at 7 p.m.

The "dead Wednesday" by-law has been the focal point of controversy and bitter wrangling since it was passed in 1947. The by-law, unique in Canada, requires outlets to shut down for the full day compared to the half-day common in many sections of Canada.

Ratepayers are also asked to approve the proposed sale of the city-owned Sea Island International Airport to the transport department for $1,000,000, expenditure of $2,000,000 for a sewage extension and improvement program, and the sale of Larwill Park to the BCE for a bus depot.

Rebel Forces Attack Guatemala Rail Centre

'Furious Air and Land Attack' Claimed Going On 65 Miles East of Capital City

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UP)—Anti-Communist rebel forces said today they are making a "furious air and land attack" on the important railway centre of Chiuimula, 65 miles due east of the Guatemalan capital.

An announcement from the headquarters of Rebel Chieftain Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, claimed the important rail centres of Bananera, Morales and Gualan, which were attacked Tuesday, now are securely in rebel hands.

This would give the forces seeking to overthrow the leftist regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman control of a 70-mile stretch of the nation's only railway.

They claimed Tuesday to have cut the railway in several places, severing communications between the capital and Puerto Barrios, the nation's most important seaport, located on the Caribbean coast.

Chiquimula, a town of 25,000 inhabitants 30 miles from the Honduras frontier, controls a spur line into the neighboring republic of San Salvador.

The rebel announcement said fighting for control of Chiquimula is continuing.

SMALLER TOWNS

Col. Castillo claimed to have moved his headquarters deeper inside the country from Esquipulas, a mountain town where headquarters were established Tuesday. The rebels claimed their invasion of the country is moving forward steadily, supported by "hundreds of peasants."

A Guatemalan government communique discounted the rebel claims. It said the rebel forces had been defeated at Gualan and Chiquimula. The rebels were claimed by the government to be "in headlong retreat toward the border.

Enemy groups which were cut off during combat have been captured without offering resistance," the government said.

Meanwhile two Guatemalan army planes were reported today to have bombed two towns in Honduras, springboard for the anti-Communist invasion of Red-infested Guatemala.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said the Honduran foreign office was attempting to determine whether this country had been bombed in an act of revenge.

'Climax' Soon Guatemala Says Pearson

OTTAWA (BUP) — External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson said today the military situation in Guatemala may reach its climax in "the very near future."

The Canadian government trade commissioner's office in Guatemala City said there was no danger to Canadian life or property, Pearson told the Commons. In addition to the families of the trade commission office, there were about 24 Canadians there, Pearson said.

Advices so far received by the government here indicated that the political situation was "not clear," but that the military situation appeared "to be coming to a climax." A cable received late Tuesday, Pearson said, indicated the climax would be reached "very soon."

Opposition Leader George Drew said that the day after the Guatemala disturbances began he had received a letter from the Communist Party in Canada urging that Canada "assert the voice of democracy." He said this showed the speed with which "agents of this world treachery" operated.

CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell said he received the same letter and replied that he would have been more anxious to support it if he had received the same kind of appeal from the Communist Party when the government of Czechoslovakia was overrun.

'CIVIL WAR' SAYS LODGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Guatemala, defying strong opposition from the United States, insisted today on a new meeting of the United Nations Security Council to consider the fighting in the Central American country.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. warned the Guatemalans in a statement issued Tuesday night that they should not "appear to be a catspaw in the Soviet conspiracy to meddle in the Western Hemisphere."

"The fact that it has become increasingly plain that the situation in Guatemala is clearly a civil—and not an international—war, makes it more appropriate that the Security Council should not intervene further," he said.

To request new meetings, he said, "would raise grave doubts as to the good faith of those who make such requests."

Safecrackers Active

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) —The second and third safecrackings in the Royal City within two days netted yeggs $2,700 in cash overnight, as well as several cheques of undetermined value.

The raids were staged on credit union offices in the IWA building.

Tossed From Boat, Blind Man Swims In Circle, Drowns

MADISONVILLE, Ky (AP)—A blind musician, unable to find land, drowned in a lake Tuesday night after swimming in circles until he was exhausted.

"Where's the bank? Where's the bank?" James T. Forbes, 41, kept shouting after he and a fishing companion were dumped into the lake when their skiff capsized.

Eurie B. Duvall, 27, Forbes' brother-in-law, went under immediately.

Daniel Fisher, 16, heard Forbes cries and swam toward him, only to see him disappear when he was almost in reach.

Wreckage of Tug Chelan Found in Alaska Waters

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — A 60-year-old diver has radioed a report of his discovery of the sunken Canadian tug Chelan, which went down with a crew of 14 men last April 15.

Diver Kay Antonsen reported discovery of the 148-foot craft by dragging. He said he confirmed its identity Tuesday by diving into the icy 180-foot deep waters of Sumner Strait.

The tug sank while towing a barge of zinc ore southward. The barge wreckage, broken into nine pieces, is on the shore more than a mile away.

Antonsen's agent here, Dean Hamlin, notified Frank Waterhouse Co. in Vancouver, which is expected to fly agents here. It is believed here it might possibly buy the salvage rights from Antonsen.

Expecting to make an attempt to recover any bodies remaining in the hulk, Antonsen has arranged tentatively to use rigging scows from a cannery to lift the tugboat enough to drag it to shallower water.

Seaway Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Canada, in line with a suggestion by the United States, has proposed that representatives of the two governments meet on Monday to discuss construction of the St. Lawrence seaway.

BUTTONHOLE QUESTION ALL BUTTONED UP

MANCHESTER, England (CP)—The mystery of why some buttonholes go up and down and some crossways was solved Tuesday.

Last Thursday a Manchester Guardian reader asked in a letter to the editor: "Sir—why are shirt buttonholes vertical and pajama buttonholes horizontal?"

One of a crowd of readers with theories had this to say: "Clearly the orientation of the principal axis of the buttonholes relative to that of the wearer is dictated by the normal attitude while wearing the former."

Another, campaigning against the existence of buttons or buttonholes, cited a suicide victim who left a note reading: "I am sick of this eternal buttoning and unbuttoning."

Tuesday, a shirt and pajama maker supplied the real answer. On pajamas, horizontal buttonholes provide "give" for tossing in one's sleep. Vertical ones keep shirt edges straight.

Collar buttonholes also are horizontal to provide "give" where needed.

Worst River Crest in History Rolls Down on Des Moines

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—As hundreds of families fled their homes, volunteer workers labored furiously today to repel the biggest flood threat the Des Moines River ever has thrown at this Iowa city of 178,000 persons.

As the river pushed rapidly toward a massive crest of 29 to 30 feet, the question was, would the dikes, rebuilt and strengthened after the disastrous 1947 flood which claimed two lives and caused millions of dollars in property damage, hold. If they do not, city officials warned, a fifth of the city's area might be flooded and more than 1,000 families left homeless.

"This city is faced with the worst flood situation in its entire history," Mayor Joseph van Dreser said in proclaiming a flood emergency.

The river, swollen by torrential rains, flows directly through the centre of the city. It runs through a secondary residential district and past the business, commercial and railroad areas. The main business district is out of reach of the flooding.

EXPLANATION 'NOVEL' BUT HE STILL PAYS TAX

OTTAWA (BUP)—Marine engineer R. S. Williams of Horseshoe Bay, B.C., will have to pay income tax on $228 in board and lodging he received on the Vancouver-Nanaimo ship Ss Princess of Naniamo, the Income Tax Appeal Board ruled.

The board said today that the board and lodging had been received in return for services rendered. It described as "novel, but untenable" Williams' contention that the owner was obliged to furnish them to the crew by statute and they should not be regarded as part of earned income.

Fear French Move

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave congressional leaders the impression today that the United States fears France will accept a "peace-at-any-price settlement of the Indo-China war.

One leader, who asked that his name be withheld, said Dulles expressed the view at a secret White House briefing that the present French government "is more responsive to what the French people want" than its predecessors.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cecil Terry, 41, charged with the hammer slaying of his wife, Catherine, was arrested today near police headquarters.

His capture ended an extensive manhunt started on Tuesday night after the death of his 38-year-old wife in hospital. She was found in her home Monday by her 13-year-old son, Wayne, bleeding and unconscious. Death was caused by multiple injuries to the brain. She never regained consciousness. (See earlier story, Page 3.)

Plan Optional

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has agreed to make optional an insurance scheme that would provide a maximum of $5,000 death benefits for civil servants and members of the armed forces.

K. W. Taylor, deputy finance minister, told a Senate committee today of the government's decision which follows considerable criticism in Parliament and by civil service associations of compulsory and other features of the plan.

French Premier Optimistic

Hopeful for Indo-China Peace After Conference With Chou

BERNE, Switzerland (UP)—French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who promised his country a quick peace in Indo-China, said today he believed chances for ending the war in Indo-China were improved by his "frank and complete" discussion of the problem with Red China's premier and foreign minister, Chou En-Lai.

The bustling French premier and the stolid Red leader met in the French embassy here for what Mendes-France told newsmen was "not a discussion but an absolutely free conversation about Indo-China.

"This frank and complete conversation permits me to hope that the Geneva conference (on Indo-China) can make progress," the French premier said.

He said he agreed with Chou that nothing would be added to that brief statement "in the interests of our objective which is the re-establishment of peace in southeast Asia."

Mendes-France did say, however, that nothing except Indo-China was discussed between them.

"The Indo-Chinese problem is for us (France) most important and the talks centred around it.

"I want to conclude on a note of optimism," said the French premier. "I hope that the conversations which just took place will help the re-establishment of peace."

The meeting at the French embassy began just a half-hour after Chou arrived in the Swiss capital from Geneva, where he has been attending the Indo-China peace conference.

Mendes-France arrived early today from Paris. He spent the morning conferring with leading members of the French delegation to the Geneva conference.

SET OWN DEADLINE

Mendes-France took office with a promise to resign if he does not bring peace to Indo-China by July 20.

U.S. Seen Sure To Rile Latins Over Guatemala

No matter what stand the United States takes in the present Guatemalan situation, "we are going to be in trouble," Clarence Hulford, vice-president, National Bank of Commerce, Seattle, said here today.

Mr. Hulford, an extensive traveler in Latin America, said that despite all U.S. efforts in the area these efforts were not fully appreciated.

"This hurts us," he told a general meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. "We want more than respect, we want to be loved."

Sympathies of Latin America lie with the rights of Guatemalans to express their freedom, rather than with their "neighbor to the north," he said.

Drinks Vote Set July 12 For Oak Bay

Resent Cabinet Refusal To See Ass'n Delegation

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

Hundreds of provincial government civil servants have demanded their executives call an immediate strike vote in the face of government refusal to hear their grievances.

This was revealed today by Carl Hauck, president of the B.C. Government Civil Service Association (TLC), as the group's 17-man executive laid plans for a vital July 2 meeting.

The meeting will discuss Premier Bennett's statement last week that the government will no longer meet directly with the association to hear wage demand and job grievances.

Mr. Hauck said many of the association's labor groups are openly discussing strike action, and that several resolutions, bearing up to 480 names, have been received by the excutive asking for a walk-out ballot.

"It is common knowledge that some branches of our association have submitted resolutions to the executive asking for an immediate strike," said Mr. Hauck.

'Played Politics' Says Premier

Premier Bennett said meetings between the association and the cabinet have been discontinued "because certain people in the association played politics."

In future, all grievances, dealing with wages and conditions, will be handled within the affected department by the minister and the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Hauck defied the premier to "tell us who the people are who have been playing politics. Name them," he said.

"I want to know who these people are. All I have heard so far is rumor and innuendo. The by-laws of our association say active participation in politics by any member shall be cause for termination of membership of such member."

Premier Bennett told the Times that the annual report of the Civil Service Commission, a department set up to administer the Civil Service Act, showed "no job grievances in 1953."

Said Mr. Hauck: "The premier is definitely misinformed when he says there are no grievances."

The association president said three basic groups within the association—tradesmen, Liquor Control Board employees and psychiatric nurses—still do not have a five-day week.

A highly-placed source told the Times today the psychiatric nurses employed at the provincial mental hospital at Essondale are "ready to walk out at any time."

Civil servants, other than white-collar workers, still work a six-day, 44-hour week.

Mr. Hauck made the position of his group clear. "We are not interested in the government as a government," he said. "But rather as an employer of labor."

"Some of the things we are asking for, including arbitration, we have been fighting for for 10 years," he said. "Our quarrel is not with any particular type of government, but with our employer, which is the government."

He added: "We have several courses of action open, and all will be discussed thoroughly at the director's meeting."

"Legally, we could strike," he said, "or we could submit our problems to public opinion."

Charge Election Promises Not Kept

The association president said that during the 1952 general election campaign association branches "asked every candidate for his stand on granting arbitration rights to civil servants."

"A majority of Social Credit candidates, including six men who are now cabinet ministers, said they were in favor of arbitration for civil servants," he said.

"When they were elected, we asked them to implement their promises, and we are still waiting," said Mr. Hauck. "The premier was not one of the six," he said.

Premier Bennett formed a three-man cabinet sub-committee to hear wage demands and job grievances in the spring of 1953. It met the association committee once; in January of that year, and has not sat since.

Premier Bennett said: "The cabinet sub-committee quit meeting the association because certain people in the association played politics. It destroyed the work the committee was doing," he said.

Since that time, repeated requests for a meeting have been ignored by the cabinet.

"This statement from the press is the first we have heard from the government," said Mr. Hauck. "We will have to act on it."

"If I have my way, we will face up to this thing right now," he added.

The association head said the executive may decide to wait until the group's fall convention at Nanaimo and let "some disgruntled branch" submit a resolution calling for a strike.

Latest efforts for a meeting with the cabinet made by the association include a "smoothing out" meeting between Premier Bennett and Trades and Labor Congress of Canada vice-president R. K. Gervin, held two weeks ago.

"There has got to be some appeal to our elected representative," said Mr. Hauck. He said the association considered Section 72 of the Civil Service Act binding on the government.

The section reads: "A committee elected (by a majority of members in good standing of a civil servants' association) shall be recognized by the lieutenant-governor in council as the representatives of the employees for the purpose of discussing any matters affecting their general welfare and conditions of employment."

Worst River Crest in History Rolls Down on Des Moines

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—As hundreds of families fled their homes, volunteer workers labored furiously today to repel the biggest flood threat the Des Moines River ever has thrown at this Iowa city of 178,000 persons.

As the river pushed rapidly toward a massive crest of 29 to 30 feet, the question was, would the dikes, rebuilt and strengthened after the disastrous 1947 flood which claimed two lives and caused millions of dollars in property damage, hold. If they do not, city officials warned, a fifth of the city's area might be flooded and more than 1,000 families left homeless.

"This city is faced with the worst flood situation in its entire history," Mayor Joseph van Dreser said in proclaiming a flood emergency.
